Learn from Danny
How Rich We Might Be
The Baby's Ears
Why Not Dwight Morrow?

BY ARTHUR BRISBANE

FATHERS and sons, learn something from Danny McMahon. His father, one of the Tammany "big three," Hogan and McMahon, gave his son education, died and left him money. Now Danny, only 36 years old, having spent his money being a "good fellow," dies in Bellevue Hospital, New York, penniless, no friend with money.

Don't spoil your son money, without teaching him how to use it, is to insure your executor.

FIRE burns more than $550,000,000 worth in this country. The loss per capita for the United States is 72 cents in Britain, 49 cents in France, 28 cents in Germany, 25 cents in Italy, 11 cents in Holland.

YESTERDAY United States District Attorney Tuttle said: "The cost of crime is ten billions a year, according to the National Surety Co. survey. Besides receivers of stolen goods, alone handle three thousand million dollars' worth of private property."

How much should we Americans be, if we were all careful, intelligent and honest?

MRS. SMITH had a baby in a Cleveland hospital. She and her husband wished it was a boy, when they gave her a girl baby to nurse. The father says: "They can keep that girl, so far as I am concerned, unless they leave it as mine." Something of a prejudice against girl babies in that, perhaps?

One proof offered is that the girl baby's ears are exactly like those of the mother. That is most important. Human ears and the "Darwinian Tubercle" that sometimes goes with them are often inherited from generation to generation and prove heredity at a glance.

Anyhow, ANY girl baby will repay richly any one that takes care of her.

SOME senators oppose Dwight W. Morrow as minister to Mexico. Why? Mr. Morrow is able, intelligent, has made his own career.

No senator can question his honesty. He was Mr. Coolidge's classmate at Amherst, and his nomination is based on long acquaintance.

NO one objected when President Harding selected Mr. Mellon, whom Harding described to this writer before he appointed him as "the second richest man in the world." It was fortunate that "the second richest man in the world" was willing to look after Uncle Sam's finances.

Mr. Morrow, who has resigned from the firm of J. Pierpont Morgan & Co., is a step not at all necessary—is well fitted for the work that the President gives him. He understands finance, international relationships and this country is interested in Mexico's prosperity, success and friendship.

ON all sides evidences of increasing business activity, says Mr. Hoover, Secretary of Commerce. The business barometer "indicates prevailing, gratifying prosperity."

Department stores, important as evidence, show gains of 11 per cent in 1927, against the eight months of 1926. Nothing to worry those that attend to business, refrain from gambling, sleep regularly, breathe deeply, avoid bootleggers and "cultivate a disposition to be pleased."

IN little Rollo's day a good boy would stoop to pick up a pin. The rich, observant banker would notice him, employ him, marry him to his daughter, leave him his fortune. Economy was the watchword.

Modern James McStowe of Canton, Ohio, says it is an exploded watchword. In Chicago he picked up a dime from the floor, and as he stooped some one stole his pocketbook with $800. His motto reads: "Look after your $800 and the dimes will look after themselves."

THE American Legion in Paris yesterday adopted the report of its national defense committee, demanding establishment of a national air force as a separate department, with an "air force secretary" in the cabinet. Common sense.

The man that had employed a coachman got a chauffeur when the automobile came in. Intelligent nations will add to their secretary of war and secretary of the navy a secretary of the air now that flying machines have come.

YOUNG WILLIAM B. LEEDS, son of the "tin plate king," started his Fokker three-motor engine flying machine for Chicago yesterday with six passengers and a relief pilot. They were to stop at Cleveland last night, then on to Chicago. Young men with money can promote flying in this day as W. K. Vanderbilt Jr. and other young men with money promoted motoring 25 years ago.

SUES FOR DIVORCE

Constance Talmadge Seeks Decree of Separation in Edinburgh

London, Sept. 22—Constance Talmadge, American film star, today filed suit for divorce from Captain Alastair William MacIntosh, according to advices received here from Edinburgh.

The suit was filed in the Edinburgh courts. Lord Fleming will hear the case, the date of which has not yet been scheduled. The grounds upon which Miss Talmadge seeks her freedom were not learned.

New York, Sept. 22—That Pilot "Duke" Schiller and his mechanic Eddie Bohn, in their "Royal Windsor" had safely progressed as far as Michigan and Stratsford, Ont., in their non-stop air race to Spokane, was assured today when messages dropped by the fliers were received by the Rogers Airline here.

The latest message, dropped during the night and telegraphed to New York by persons who picked it up, was dated Bay City, Mich., and read: "Still going. All OK. Weather OK. Signed Duke and Eddie."

A preceding message, filed at Stratsford, Ont., said:

"Still going. All OK. Just eating. Weather clear now. Had some rain. Signed Duke and Eddie."

ROBERT STINSON AT MINNEAPOLIS

Minneapolis, Sept. 22—A plane believed to be the one in which Eddie Stinson of Detroit is flying from New York to Spokane in a non-stop flight was reported as having passed over Minneapodis at 3:35 this morning.

"The plane was a Stinson-Detroiter," Lloyd Ruth, local aviator said today. Stinson has visited my home a number of times and I believe he roared over my house this morning to let me know he was passing through Minneapolis," Ruth said.

LACEY HELD UP AT STARTING POINT

Roosevelt Field, N. Y., Sept. 22—Stephen Lacey, who was prevented from starting in the non-stop New York-to-Spokane air race yesterday by a broken skid got under way today, only to be forced to return within 20 minutes by engine trouble.

EVANGELIST FACES CHARGE OF BIGAMY

Rev. W. J. Jordan Accused of Having Four Wives; Warrant Requested

Columbus, Ga., Sept. 22—Local authorities today looked to Charlotte, N. C., for the next move in the case of Rev. Willis J. Jordan, evangelist, who is accused of having four wives. After his strange disappearance here, Jordan was found seriously ill in a Grand Rapids hospital.

Detective William T. Gloer has asked the Charlotte police to swear out a warrant charging bigamy against Jordan. Gloer took this action at the request of the minister's wife, who claims she is wife No. 4, having been married to him in Charlotte on Aug. 10, 1927.

According to Mrs. Jordan, she was first married to the evangelist by long distance telephone more than two years ago. She was in Washington and he in Wisconsin at the time. Mrs. Jordan before her marriage was Emma A. Landridge, of Washington, D. C.

Scene and Principals in Battle Tonight for Heavyweight Title

The striking panorama of Soldiers' Field, Chicago, above, was taken between halves of the Army-Navy game there last fall, when 100,000 persons filled the mammoth stadium. The additional seats erected on the playing field around the ring for the title bout will add thousands to the total attendance at the heavyweight championship fight tonight. The building in the rear is the Field Museum. At left are Gene Tunney, champ, and Tex Rickard, the promoter. At right are Jack Dempsey and George F. Getz, millionaire and "resident" promoter.

Marion Erie Switchman Is Killed

S. H. WILSON, 44, DIES IN YARDS

Found Dead Along Track; Autopsy Reveals Fractured Skull, Crushed Chest

Seymour Hartley Wilson, 44, of 121 Merchant-av, was believed instantly killed about midnight last night when he was crushed between two cars in the Erie yards, while on duty as a night switchman.

It is believed that Wilson was riding on the rear of one of the cars when it backed into another, crushing him. He was dead when found several minutes later by George Seebach and E. M. Humes, fellow workers.

According to report of Dr. B. D. Osborn, county coroner, following an autopsy this morning, Wilson sustained a fracture of the base of the skull and left temple, a crushed breastbone and seven broken ribs.

Funeral services will be held at 2 o'clock Saturday afternoon from his late home, 121 Merchant-av, and at 2:30 o'clock from Epworth M. E. Church with the pastor, Dr. B. L. George, officiating. Interment will be in Marion Cemetery.

Wilson had been employed as a switchman at the Erie for the past nine years and before that time was employed at the Marion Steam Shovel Co. He was born in Marion County, June 1, 1883 and had lived in this city the greater part of his life. He was the son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Wilson. Mr. Wilson was a member of Epworth M. E. Church and of the Powell Sunday School class and of the Brotherhood of Railroad Trainmen. He had been married 14 years.

Surviving are his widow, Mrs. Rena Wilson, a son, Norman, at home; his father, a stepson, Harry E. Camm of Columbus, and one brother, Frank Wilson of this city. One sister preceded him in death.

FIND CLEWS IN HUNT FOR MISSING FLIERS

Hope of Solving Nungesser-Coli Mystery Revived at Paris

Paris, Sept. 22—Two new developments today revived hopes that the mystery of the disappearance of Captains Nungesser and Coli in their transatlantic airplane White Bird, might yet be solved.

A message to Le Petit Parisien from The Hague reports the finding of a bottle on the beach near Kikduin, Holland, containing a message written in blue ink and purported to have been signed "Nungesser and Coli." The message reads: "We have come down in the channel."

A photographic copy of the message is being sent to Paris for inspection.

The second development was the finding at Crunpulet, near Cape Gris-Nez, of a small portion of the body of an airplane. The fragment is covered with what appears to be silver and white canvas it also has been sent to French naval officials for examination.

FIRST PRESBYTERIAN CALLS NEW PASTOR

Rev. Howard S. Olewiler, Pittsburgh, Offered Ministry of Local Church

Rev. Howard L. Olewiler, pastor of the Forest Hills Presbyterian Church, Wilkinsburg, a suburb of Pittsburgh, Penn., was called to the pastorate of the First Presbyterian Church by a unanimous vote of the congregation at a called business meeting at the church.

Reverend Olewiler was immediately notified and will announce his decision in the near future. If he accepts the call he will probably take up his duties here the latter part of October or early in November, it was announced.

Reverend Olewiler has been pastor of the Forest Hills Church for the last nine years, having held the assistant pastorate of the First Presbyterian Church in Wilkinsburg, previous to that time.

First Presbyterian Church has been without a pastor since Rev. Raymond W. Smiley declared the pulpit vacant June 4 and shortly afterward left for Steubenville, where he had accepted the pastorate of the Westminster Presbyterian Church. Reverend Smiley served as pastor here for four years.

Rev. James M. Fisher, pastor of the Lee Street Presbyterian Church, presided as moderator at the business session at the First Presbyterian Church last night. The meeting was well attended.

AUTOS KILL THREE

Columbus Casualty List Large in Last 24 Hours

Columbus, Sept. 22 — Three people were killed in automobile accidents here during the last 24 hours, according to police records today.

Tommy Wentzel, 6, was killed when the auto in which he was riding with his father overturned after colliding with another machine.

Mrs. Cliff McNutt, 38, sustained fatal injuries when she was struck by an auto while walking through a red traffic light.

Simon Streets, 69, negro, was killed when the bicycle on which he was riding was struck by an automobile.

STAR SET FOR FIGHT PARTY

Blow-by-Blow Report Will Be Megaphoned to Crowds in Street

All arrangements have been completed for The Star's biggest fight party tonight.

When the first preliminary is started at 8 o'clock, Marion time, The Star's announcer will begin the megaphone returns of Tex Rickard's great battle in Soldiers' Field, Chicago.

Every preliminary will be megaphoned and then the big bout, between Champion Gene Tunney and Challenger Jack Dempsey, will be given in detail, round by round, blow by blow.

The Star will have a wire direct from the ringside into this office. Davis J. Walsh, sports expert, and his staff wiring every blow just when it is struck.

Chief of Police J. W. Thompson has kindly announced that he will have the street in front of The Star freed from parked automobiles. There will be an abundance of room for everybody. A place in front of The Star will be much better than the majority of seats in the big Chicago stadium.

Remember: the fight party starts at 8 o'clock. The big bout will go on between 9:30 and 10 o'clock.

And, after the main go The Star will have a Star Peach Extra on the streets giving a complete printed account of the battle.

Attend the party and then read about the fight in The Star Peach.

AUTHORIZE PASSPORT FOR DRAFT DODGER

Action Taken in Bergdoll Case; Will Be Arrested on Arrival

Washington, Sept. 22—Grover Cleveland Bergdoll, the draft dodger who fled to Germany, will be issued a passport to return to the United States, it was announced at the state department today.

Instructions to give Bergdoll a passport were sent to John E. Kehl, American consul at Stuttgart. Kehl had received a letter signed by Bergdoll which asked for a passport. The passport will not permit Bergdoll to visit any other country.

As an American citizen Bergdoll does not need a passport to return home, but it was explained that it would be issued to prevent any trouble he might encounter in crossing European countries on the way to America.

If Bergdoll returns, federal officers will be waiting to take him into custody for fleeing the draft.

FLIES TO FIRE TRAGEDY SCENE

Doctor in Airplane Takes Supplies to Mission Where 20 Perished

Winnipeg, Man., Sept. 22—Plunging northward through the bitter cold of early winter, a lone doctor with emergency materials was flying over wilderness wastes today carrying relief to the survivors of the tragic Beauval Catholic mission conflagration that took a toll of 20 lives, 19 of them Indian children.

First news of the disaster reaching Prince Albert, Sask., sent Dr. A. Amyot, of Regina, winging his way northward with the hope of saving a priest whose burns received in an hour of heroism may prove fatal.

20 Reported Dead

With the 19 children who perished, one sister of the order of Grey Nuns was said to have died in this outlying mission on the shores of Lac La Plonge.

Word of the horrible night fire was brought out of the interior by a party of woodsmen who had traveled by launch to secure help.

Their account of the disaster was meagre. The mission, one of the oldest in the north, was a frame structure and the fatal fire Monday night was the third in three years.

Dr. Amyot, who rushed to Winnipeg to secure supplies before taking off on his hazardous flight, said that the only information so far available placed the dead at 20 with the survivors including more than 40 children.

Praise Rescuers

The launch crew, he said, had praised Fathers La Jaunesse, Angel and Adam, brothers of the Order Oblate fathers, whose heroic efforts were largely responsible for the many rescues.

Preparations were being completed today to rush relief supplies to the survivors who are camped on the shores of Lac La Plonge, separated from even the remotest civilization by 125 miles of wilderness.

TRICK VEST TURNS POLICE GUN BULLET

Agent Demonstrates Protective Features of Thin Steel Under Jacket

In the presence of Chief of Police [illegible], Desk Sergeant Wenz and a number of spectators, a representative of a New York company at police headquarters yesterday afternoon, seized a .38 caliber revolver belonging to the police, and holding it within a few inches of his breast, pulled the trigger.

Instead of dropping in a crumpled heap at the feet of the police a la movies, he calmly reached inside his vest and extracted a steel jacketed bullet which showed the appearance of having come in contact with the armor of a battleship.

A slight dent in the thin steel plate that was enclosed in the bullet proof vest that the salesman wore, was the only evidence that he had fired the shot. The demonstration of the ability of the vest to turn bullets was given by the salesman in an effort to interest the local department in the purchasing of such garments.

One photograph presented by the representative showed an officer who had been struck by four bullets from a 45 automatic revolver in the hands of a bandit. The only injury suffered by the policeman, according to the photograph, were four holes in the cloth covering the metal plates. The vest is so constructed that it covers the sides and back as well the front of the wearer

GAS COMPANY TURNS DOWN ELYRIA OFFER

City No Nearer Settlement Than Other Municipalities Fighting Increase Rates

Although the city of Elyria through its councilmanic body agreed to compromise on the matter of rates sought by the Logan Gas Co., that city is no nearer an amicable settlement of the rate controversy than Marion and many other cities in the state fighting the company's proposed increase.

Officials of the gas company rejected the offer of Elyria council when officials of that city refused to agree to terms of the utility on the second part of the rate, to be in effect after the first two years for a period of two years.

The compromise agreement which the gas company turned down provided a rate of $1.10 minimum for 2,000 cubic feet and 55 cents per 1,000 cubic feet thereafter for a period of two years after which a scale of $1.10 for the first 1,000 cubic feet and 60 cents per 1,000 cubic feet thereafter was to be in effect for a second period of two years.

MATERIAL FOR ROAD DELAYED IN TRANSIT

Opening of Delaware-rd Not Set Because of Inability To Complete Work

Owing to the delay in the arrival of materials, the exact date for the opening of the Marion-Delaware-pk, cannot be announced, Grover C. Snyder, divisional highway director, stated today.

Only about three days work remain on the road after the material arrives, according to Snyder. From the south the road is open as far as Pleasant acres.

The Marion-Mt. Gilead-rd which has also been undergoing improvements this summer, will be open for travel Saturday.

Snyder believes that the material for the Marion-Delaware-rd will arrive within a few days.

EDUCATOR DIES

Sir Arthur Shipley Passes Away at Cambridge, England

Cambridge, Eng., Sept. 22—Sir Arthur Shipley, master of Christ's College, Cambridge, died here today at the age of 66.

Sir Arthur was one of England's foremost educators. He was formerly vice-chancellor of Cambridge university and held many important posts in educational institutions in Great Britain during his career. He was the author of a number of educational works.

Sir Arthur held degrees from important British universities, as well as from the University of Michigan, Princeton University, and the Drexel Institute of Philadelphia.

Green Camp, Sept. 22—As a farewell courtesy to their son, Lester Firstenberger and family, who are leaving Tuesday for California, Mr. and Mrs. Jacob Firstenberger, Marion, entertained Tuesday night, Dr. and Mrs. J. G. McNamara and daughter, Ula; Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Miller and children, Twila, Naomi, Harold and Lowell, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Oesterle and children, Roma Gay, Ruth and Doris; Mr. and Mrs. William Yocom, Mr. and Mrs. Philip Firstenberger, Albert Firstenberger, Mr. and Mrs. S. E. Bricker, Mr. and Mrs. W. L. Bricker and son Wayne. Guests gave Mr. and Mrs. Firstenberger a shower of articles which will be useful on their trip. They will be accompanied by Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Albert and children and are taking the southern route, going by motor, and expecting to camp out. They expect to spend the winter in the west.

24 New Homes Constructed In Oakland Heights During Year By Jones Realty Co.

Hundreds of Dwellings Now Occupy Ground That Was Used as Farm Land 12 Years Ago; Work on Section Started in 1915

With the completion of 24 new dwellings this summer, the Oakland Heights Addition built by the Jones Realty Co., begins to show a definite contrast with that section of Marion 12 years ago.

The first of April, 1915, when the addition was first started by the Jones Realty Co., the district that is now known as Oakland Heights, was practically a barren country. Only four houses, those situated on Woodrow-av, were at that time built in the section.

School In Field

Oakland Heights School building when constructed a few years before the campaign to build up that part of Marion was started, was situated in a field with the nearest house about two blocks away.

Today, however, through the Jones Realty Co., and other builders of the city, the addition has not only become well populated but one of the beauty spots of Marion.

The number of homes which have been built in that vicinity since 1915 is not known but houses today line both sides of more than 10 streets which have been constructed in Oakland Heights, west of Davids-st. Among the streets and avenues, most of which are now paved, are Woodrow, Oak Grove, Merkel, Underwood, Chatfield, Sheridan, Maynard and Congress.

Center of Activity

The school house served as the center of the building activities from the start of the addition and until a few years ago when Oakland Heights became a business center as well as a residence section.

William T. Jones constructed the first business building on the northwest corner of Bellefontaine-av and Davids-st in 1916 and since that period the structure has been the nucleous for many business houses.

Not long after the establishment of Oakland Heights, the Columbus, Delaware & Marion Eleceric Co., built a waiting room at the intersection of Woodrow and Bellefontaine-avs, facing Davids-st.,

Chatfield-rd, where a better grade of houses will be located is scheduled to be built up within the next two years.

Jones Realty Co., at the present time has a crew of about 25 men which includes carpenters, painters, plasterers and laborers, at work in the new houses in this west Marion addition.

Nearly all of the houses constructed by Jones Co. this summer are now occupied, according to an announcement by W. T. Jones, president of the company.

Those persons who will take possession of houses on Woodrow-av in the near future include: R. O. Persinger, Ray G. Diener; Congress-st: Howard M. Diabennett, Glen Price, F. R. Dutton, Joseph C. Davis, John F. Duffey and Harry Hannah; Oak Grove: R. C. Pence, F. L. Herring, Robert H. Shuster, Harold Bishop, William Jackson, Earl Heist, Ralph L. Snook; Merkle-av: Donald Sloan, John Sellers; Sheridan-rd: G. B. Shank and Glen, Herbert and Walter Crooks.

Investigate Vernon Heights prices. You'll be surprised and pleased.—Adv.

She Tests Wheat to Give Housewives Their Best Bread

"WOMAN was the first miller, I imagine, grinding the grain between two stones." So says Miss Mabel Corbould of the Ohio State Agricultural Experiment Station at Wooster, O. Miss Corbould also grinds wheat into flour, which she bakes into most delectable loaves of bread, but she uses a small electrically operated mill.

Most of the wheat she uses comes from the 14 experimental farms in the state which are trying out the different kinds of wheat to see which is particularly suited to the eliminate and soil conditions in that part of the state. Miss Corbould grinds them, and makes her wheat to find the kind of flour which will give best results for the housewife.

Miss Corbould is a native of the Dominion of Canada and took her domestic science work at Carnegie Institute of Technology at Pittsburgh. She supplemented this by special courses at Cincinnati and the Chicago School for Bakers, the only woman student in the latter place. She also took a course in milling and baking at the Guelph Agricultural College, Ontario, Canada.

For a number of years she was employed by the Fleischmann Yeast Co., and she has been at the experiment station since 1915. There are about 65 varieties of wheat with which she experiments.

STUDEBAKER Sets Coast-to-Coast Record

Commander

4-DOOR SEDAN DRIVEN BY AB JENKINS FROM ATLANTIC TO PACIFIC IN

77 hours and 40 minutes

Ab Jenkins, building contractor of Salt Lake City, driving his own Studebaker Commander Sedan, was checked out at Tottenville Ferry, New York City, at 8 p. m., August 30, 1927, by Colonel James Justice, Commanding Officer, Miller Field, Staten Island; A. H. Means, of the American Automobile Association; and P. S. O'Neill, of the Western Union Telegraph Company. He was checked in by Western Union at Carquinez Bridge on San Francisco Bay at 10:40 p. m., September 2, 1927. His total elapsed time was 77 hours and 40 minutes.

Note that the record was made by an enclosed car which lists at $1495 f. o. b. factory. All previous transcontinental records have been made by open cars.

In June, 1926, Ab Jenkins drove his Studebaker Big Six Sheriff from New York to San Francisco in 86 hours and 20 minutes, beating the best time of the crack limited trains and reducing the previous record by 16 hours and 25 minutes.

In August, 1926, L. B. Miller drove a Wills St. Claire open roadster from New York to San Francisco in 81 hours and 12 minutes.

In June, 1927, L. B. Miller drove a Chrysler "80" open touring car, which is priced a thousand dollars above The Commander, from San Francisco to New York in 79 hours and 55 minutes.

No wonder The Commander has been acclaimed "the greatest post-war achievement of automotive engineering" and is outselling the combined totals of all the other cars in the world which equal it in rated horsepower.

All Studebaker models have more than $100 in extra equipment without extra cost, including front and rear bumpers and shock absorbers.

RAIL MEN HOLD SPECIAL MEET

Hocking Valley Workers Conduct Damage Prevention Discussion at Hotel Harding

A number of Hocking Valley railroad officials held a damage prevention meeting at Hotel Harding yesterday. The meeting followed a luncheon. Those present were J. D. Harriman, agent at Fostoria; I. C. Christian, Columbus, assistant road foreman of engines; A. Ziebold, Columbus, chief car inspector, and C. M. Ryder, assistant train master, of Marion.

Heads Inspection

E. A. Sparks, of Marion, track supervisor, accompanied an inspection party headed by E. R. Cott, Hocking Valley safety agent, between Marion and Carey yesterday.

Holds Loading Record

The Pennsylvania railroad docks at Sandusky hold the August 1927 record for coal loading of all the Great Lakes ports.

During the month just past a total of 1,143,454 tons of coal were loaded into lake-going vessels from the Pennsylvania's Sandusky docks. The Penney's nearest competitor was the Hocking Valley at Toledo. A total of 983,875 tons were loaded from these docks, giving the Pennsylvania a margin of 159,579 tons.

Work Held Up

Until plans for a viaduct in Belle Center are approved work of double tracking the Sandusky division of the Big Four is temporarily suspended. The proposed Belle Center viaduct will eliminate five grade crossings.

Try Marshroot For Sleepless Nights

When your bladder is irritated and you have to jump out of bed two or three times every night it breaks your rest and you feel tired and weary during the day.

Time then to think of Marshroot because this good old medicine is guaranteed to help this condition or money back—and no time is wasted doing it either.

If you want to sleep sound at night, keep free from bladder weakness and gain in energy, get a bottle of Marshroot. It isn't expensive and is guaranteed. Henney-Cooper sells lots of it.—Adv.

INSTRUCTORS PLAN TO VISIT CORNFIELD

Smith-Hughes Teachers Will Demonstrate Damage of Borer to Crop

To demonstrate the damage in a badly infested corn borer area, Smith-Hughes instructors of Marion County have arranged to visit a badly damaged field, near Upper Sandusky, Friday morning.

An invitation to all residents of Marion County who are interested in the war against the corn borer being conducted in the county has been made by the Smith-Hughes instructors. Any person interested in visiting the field have been requested to get in touch with one of the instructors who are located in all of the principal villages of the county.

The vocational departments of Waldo, Green Camp, LaRue, Prospect, Pleasant and Martel schools are co-operating in making the general invitation to any resident of the county. R. N. Darling, instructor at Martel will be in charge of the trip.

Interested parties are requested to meet at the Upper Sandusky Courthouse at 9 o'clock, Friday morning. The field to be surveyed by the Marion County persons is located in Ottawa County, about 4½ miles east of Port Clinton. The route from Port Clinton to be traveled is on Highway No. 2 to the Oasis filling station where a right turn will be made. The first cornfield on the right side of the road after the right turn in the field where the demonstration will be made.

NEW GRILL TO OPEN IN NEXT TWO WEEKS

Work of Redecorating Room Formerly Occupied as Smokehouse Nearly Finished

Work of redecorating both the exterior and interior of the room on E. Center-st formerly used by the Comer cigar store and which will be occupied by the Midway Soda Grill, is nearing completion and it is expected the grill will be opened within the next two weeks, it was announced today by George Paulson who with his brother Louis, will operate the place.

A color scheme of blue and white with panels of mottled gold on a blue background is being used in the interior while the outside of the building will be decorated with black and white. The decorating is being done by The Askew Decorating Co.

MARION WOMAN DIES AT RESIDENCE HERE

Mrs. Luella Baumgartner, 55, Wife of Perry Baumgartner, Is Stricken

Mrs. Luella Baumgartner, 55, wife of Perry Baumgartner, died of hardening of the arteries at 7 o'clock last night at her home, S. Davids-st. She had been ill since February.

Mrs. Baumgartner was born on a farm near Green Camp, June 20, 1872, the daughter of Eliza and August Rider, originally from Baden, Germany, and who made their home near Prospect the greater part of their life. She was a member of the Pilgrim Holiness Church.

Her husband, three daughters, Mrs. Blanche Court, Newmans; Mrs. Dollie Kyle, Prospect, and Ruth Baumgartner, at home; three sons, Harvey, Wood-st; Charles, Clinton-av, and Doyle, at home; five sisters, Mrs. W. Kanable, Blaine-av; Mrs. J. H. Nichelson, Mrs. Joseph Fox, both of Prospect; Mrs. Silas Kirts, Etna, and Mrs. John Knickle, Richland-township; three brothers, August and Charles Rider, Newmans, and George Rider, near Prospect, and eight grandchildren survive. A daughter, Esther, preceded her in death.

Funeral services, to be held at 1 o'clock Saturday afternoon from the home, are not entirely completed.

CHARITY FAIR IS TO BE HELD BY EAGLES

Annual Indoor Event Will Take Place First Week in November

Buckeye Aerie, No. 337, Fraternal Order of Eagles' annual indoor charity fair will be staged at the Eagles' Temple, the first week in November, it was announced at the regular meeting of the organization, last night.

The date for the fair was set by the committee in charge of the annual event. All proceeds will be given to Marion's poor at Christmas time, it was stated.

W. M. Ireland was appointed chairman of the committee to take charge of the winter dance program. Five applications for membership were received and two candidates were balloted upon.

Following the business session, a luncheon and smoker was held in the dining room.

Plans were made to hold a novelty dinner following the regular business session of the organization in two weeks. The next regular meeting will be held Wednesday night of next week.

MUST MAKE GRADES TO TAKE "Y" HIKES

All Boys Eligible Until Announcement of Scholastic Standings

Grade school boys who hope to take the Y. M. C. A. hikes which will be staged this fall will have to keep up in their school work or there will be no hikes for them according to D. M. Burson, boy's work secretary of the "Y," who will supervise the hikes.

The first hike will start at 9 o'clock Saturday morning when the boys of the Glenwood school will be taken for a few hours in the wide open spaces by Burson. Each school will be taken in turn. A schedule of hikes has not been completed but Burson expects to have one arranged in a day or so.

Until the first six weeks grades are out all boys will be entitled to take the hikes. But after that the grade card will determine who is eligible to go, according to Burson.

The hikers will have no particular destination but will tramp into the fields where there is plenty of room to play tag football, recreation baseball and handball. The lunch which they will take with them will be cooked at noon. The boys will be back by 1 o'clock or shortly after according to Burson.

EXPECT DECISION IN "BABY SMITH" CASE

Cleveland Judge Likely To Hand Down Ruling After Hearing Today

Cleveland, Sept. 22—Common Pleas Judge Carl Weygandt today was to resume his hearing of the puzzling "Baby Smith" case, with indications that a decision of some sort will be reached before nightfall.

"Baby Smith," who is one month old today, has been the subject of more publicity, speculation and worry than the average woman occasions in a lifetime.

Mrs. Sam Smith, wife of a local barber, gave birth to a baby in a maternity Hospital, Aug. 22. Hospital attendants told her the child was a boy and she and her husband decided the name should be "George."

Brings Suit

Several days later the mother discovered that the baby a nurse had brought her was a girl. Her husband brought suit, demanding that the hospital give him his "son."

Phillip Vollmer, Jr., superintendent at the hospital, admits that a "technical error" was made at the time of birth ,but declares that Mrs. Smith has the right baby. Miss Ruth Meyer, a nurse who was present at the time, will testify today that she distinctly remembers that the baby was a girl but that she erroneously reported it was a boy, according to Vollmer.

SAYS FRENCH NOT BITTER

Fred E. Guthery Addresses Kiwanis Club on Trip Through Europe

That the bitter feeling toward the citizens of the United States with which the French have been charged, does not exist, was the declaration of Fred Guthery, who returned recently from a three months trip abroad, in an address before members of the Kiwanis Club at their luncheon at Hotel Harding today noon.

The speaker said he had found the French to be kind and considerate in every way and at no time during his stay in Paris, did he have an occasion to believe that the French people entertained anything but a friendly feeling toward the people of the United States.

He also discredited the charge that the French held a dislike for the American doughboy. "When you read in the papers that the French do not like the American doughboy," the speaker said, "you can put it down that it is not true."

The speaker said that during his stay in the French capital he had made an investigation of the charges and found that the French people entertained nothing but a friendly feeling for the American soldier although they were sometimes hard pressed to understand them. Most of the feeling that exists between the French people and those who go to France from America, is due to the unwillingness of the Americans to adjust themselves to the conditions in that country, the speaker said.

MANY ANSWER PLEA FOR MARION FAMILY

Beds, Comforters and Clothing Showered Upon Destitute Mother and Children

The three small children of the widowed mother who have been spending the cool nights of the past few days snuggling up to a hard cold floor, will now have warm beds like other children, with plenty of bed clothing to keep them warm.

With the customary willingness to help those less fortunate, Marion citizens responded generously to the call for beds, published in yesterday's issue of the Star.

Miss Alice Hane, E. Center-st, who is in charge of relief work for the Auxiliary to The American Legion, said this morning that she had received no less than a dozen calls last night from persons who wanted to help and that she had received in addition to the beds and baby carriage asked for, a quantity of children's clothing and bed clothing.

westward in a non-stop flight from Roosevelt Field, N. Y.

Three planes were entered for the non-stop race, but only two were able to get off the ground, yesterday. They were piloted by Eddie Stinson of Detroit, flying a plane of his own make, and C. A. "Duke" Schiller, of Windsor, Ont., flying the "Royal Windsor." Stephens Lacey was delayed by engine trouble.

Overtaken by Darkness

Darkness overtook Stinson and Schiller almost before they had cleared the boundary of New York state, consequently no reports of their progress were received during the night. Officials here were awaiting news from points over which they are expected to fly. The fliers should have greeted the dawn somewhere between Chicago and St. Paul, probably farther west if favorable winds had aided them.

The planes left Roosevelt Field yesterday afternoon and are expected here about 4 p. m. today. Barring trouble, the giant planes should be able to negotiate the 2,300-mile course in about 24 hours.

10,000 View Finish

C. W. Holman of St. Paul won first prize of $10,000 in the class A event. He roared across the finish line as 10,000 spectators cheered. His elapsed time from New York to Spokane was 19 hours, 42 minutes and 52 seconds.

A few minutes after Holman landed, J. S. Charles of Richmond, Va., and C. W. Meyers of Detroit, sailed down from the clouds almost in a dead heat for first prize money in the class B event.

Charles was the first to land, but Meyers may be declared the winner of the $5,000 purse on elapsed time. This is a matter which the officials will have to decide.

Race a Thriller

The successful aviators all agreed the race was the most thrilling and hazardous of their several careers.

There were 15 starters in the class A race. Eight of these finished, the others being forced down at various points along the route or failure to take off. Of 25 entries in the class B flight, 10 finished the race.

Spokane is undisputedly the present center of the aviation world as planes seemingly from all points of the compass have been converging here for the past 24 hours. Beside the great trisection derby from New York, this was the terminus for other races from southern coast cities.

A series of impressive army maneuvers will climax the aerial carnival here.

CLOSE FINISHES MARK BOTH RACES

Spokane, Wash., Sept. 22—The first eight class A planes out of 15 starters from New York, arrived in this order:

Pilots	Time of Arrival
C. W. Holman, St. Paul	2:46
E. E. Ballaugh, Chicago	3:39
N. B. Namer, Spokane	3:10
John P. Wood, Wausau, Wis.	3:50

STATE HEAD TO SPEAK HERE

J. L. Clifton Principal Figure on Program Here Saturday; Coy to Speak

J. L. Clifton, state director of education, will be the principal speaker at the first meeting of Marion County school teachers this season to be held Saturday morning, Oct. 1 at Central Junior High School. The meeting is scheduled for all day and will start at 9 o'clock in the morning.

Others who will share the speaking program with Mr. Clifton are W. S. Coy, secretary of the Ohio Teachers' Reading Circle; Frank Reynolds, secretary of the Ohio State Teachers' Association and Prof. Eldon Hutchison, of Wilmington College.

FOUND INSANE

Slayer of Eight to Be Committed to State Hospital

Youngstown, Sept. 22—Tony De Capua, who on Sept. 3, shot and killed eight persons and wounded three others, was found insane by the Mahoning county grand jury last Wednesday. He will be committed to the state insane hostal at Lima.

Probate Judge C. M. Woodside, before whom a sanity hearing was held last week, has not handed down a decision as yet and probably will not in view of the grand jury's action. De Capua, who was himself wounded in a gun battle with police and later made three attempts at suicide, is now in the county jail.

It is estimated that the average consumption of tobacco averages two and one-half pounds per year for every inhabitant in the world.

Increased Interest Being Shown in Vocational Course at High School

Increased interest is being shown in the vocational department of Harding High School, according to a report submitted today by L. H. Ricker, instructor, which shows a total enrollment of 122 students for the course. Of that number the majority, 60, are freshmen, and are taking a prevocational course at Central Junior High School.

There are also 25 sophomores, 20 juniors and 17 seniors. The vocational department of the high school this year accomodates more than 60 boys while facilities for only 20 were available in previous years.

The course is primarily for students who do not expect to enter college but upon graduation will follow an industrial career.

Local industries co-operating with the school for the course are the Marion Steam Shovel Co., the Osgood Steam Shovel Co., the General Excavator Co., the Alloy Cast Steel Co., the Commercial Steel Castings Co., the Fairfield Engineering Co., the Gardner Tap & Die Co., the United Electric Supply Co., and the C. D. & M. Electric Co.

chorus of the "I-told-you-so's" that would make the night hideous.

Plenty of Gossip

For, in spite of the fact that every disciple of the gloved fist from east, west, north and south will be there to see it, there has been such backstairs gossip about this fight and the so-called smart money has been said to know more than it should.

It is for this reason that the commission took its elaborate though rather unskilled measures to prevent the wagging tongue of scandal to run wild. The board, of course, concedes that it can't reverse a decision of its properly constituted officials but it feels that it would be justified in withholding "an improper decision until justice is done."

To further strengthen the integrity of its position, the commission declared itself for two prominent citizens to act as amateur judges and the whisper early today was that they would be none other than George Lytton and Marshal Field himself.

The referee was to be selected from among Dave Miller Bellwether of local officials; Joe Choyinsky, the old heavyweight; Dave Barry, another; Jimmy Gardner, former welterweight; Emil Thiry, old timer of the game in this section, and Tommy Thomas. Most of those mentioned were said from time to time to have little chance to get the nod, yet so uncertain is the referee situation in this section that one of the six cannot miss because they are all there are, there are no more.

Betting Even

However, in spite of all the rumblings from under cover, Dempsey's popularity early today carried him into the betting as an even money favorite, where once he was a 5 to 7 short choice. The betting has been light in this town, where betting on anything usually is heavy, but the money that was going down on the line last night mostly was laid on the basis of dollar against dollar.

Dempsey blew his title by losing virtually 10 rounds out of 10 to Tunney last year. They will fight another 10-round bout tonight and, so well has the ex-champion intrigued the popular imagination that many people are expecting him to win the majority of rounds, if he doesn't win by a knockout.

Dempsey, a prey to devastating worries in 1926, admittedly was a better man for tonight's test; in fact, his speed and general condition was esteemed over that which he had the night, two months ago, when he knocked out Jack Sharkey in his official comeback.

Tunney Also Improved

But Tunney was a better man today, too, at least, he was physically, psychologically, however, his position of 1926 was reversed, since this time he had all to lose and nothing to gain, also, he was under the handicap of having had no fight since that dank, forbidding night in Philadelphia when he lifted Dempsey's crown to the amazement of the multitude.

But did I say he had nothing to gain? Well, to be frank, he had nothing to gain but a cool million dollars. That will be his reward tonight merely for stepping into the ring. If they carry him out, as still will get the million.

However, the championship and clean hitting Tunney, with his persistent, pantheress, pecking punches, did not figure to be carried out, although anything was possible when a man like Dempsey starts shooting that punches left. His best night he couldn't do right hand may have lost its old sting. But Dempsey still can give [illegible] and take one and [illegible] of the reasons he is an even money choice against a younger and faster man today.

Dempsey's Share

Dempsey's end of the fight will be approximately $450,000, which was more than the champion, challenger and promoter combined were able to drag away with them for heavyweight championship bouts five of six years ago.

But times have changed, indeed. They have changed so much that $40 ringside seats were being counterfeited by the thousands last week. They have changed so much that only the fact that Soldiers' Stadium is too big to give the five and ten-dollar man a chance has prevented a complete sell out.

They have changed so much that it was found necessary to give both champion and challenger the protection of a police escort as they rode into town for the official weighing in this afternoon. This ceremony, by the way, was only a formality. Tunney predicted he would scale about 188 pounds, Dempsey about 193, so that there would be little advantage, if any, either way.

But the weighing in is all a part of the act, a great ceremony for showmanship purposes. And so the merry villagers, already exercised beyond all endurance, were expected to riot in the streets for this bird's eye glimpse of the noble gladiators as they pushed their way to the scales.

Barnum was right, sure enough, but he really didn't have his figures accurately placed. He should have held a stop watch.

navy, to details of the legion's child welfare work.

Mitchell Starts Row

The convention became involved in another row over aeronautics when General William Mitchell, former head of the American army air service as chairman of the aeronautics committee, brought in a report favoring the establishment, immediately, of a separate department of aeronautics in the American government, to be co-equal with those of the army and navy.

After much acrimonious debate, a compromise was reached which put the legion on record as favoring the creation of such a separate aeronautics department, "as soon as possible."

Dispute Over Fund

The real row of the session developed over the administration of expenditures for child welfare work from the Legion's $4,000,000 endowment fund. Charges were made that of the $100,000 available for welfare work, $50,000 goes for administration expenses and salaries.

The California delegates headed a minority movement to decentralize the administration of the fund, and to apportion the money among the various states, individually. After an hour's debate the California movement was defeated. The fund will continue to be administered as heretofore.

Many Resolutions

A vast array of resolutions were adopted by the convention in record time, among them one advocating an American navy up to the 5-5-3 ratio established by the Washington armament limitations conference, another commending the veterans' bureau for its work, and one advocating a national system of highways.

SEND MESSAGE TO "COMRADE TUNNEY"

Paris, Sept. 22—The American Legion convention today unanimously adopted a resolution to send a cablegram offering the convention's "Hearty good wishes to Comrade Gene Tunney" in his fight to retain his title tonight at Soldiers' Field, Chicago. The vote of the resolution was taken amid a tumult of cheering.

Man Accused of Burglarizing Dairy in Youngstown Indicted

Youngstown, Sept. 22—The county grand jury today had returned four murder indictments following a partial report last night.

An indictment was also returned against Dallas Moore, charged with robbing the Isely dairy here several months ago. The alleged beating administered to Moore by city detectives in obtaining a confession gave rise to the investigation of police "third degree" methods which is now being carried on by the grand jury.

The men indicted for murder are: William Allen, Ferris, Nemer, Nick Kanovich, and Hardie Simmons.

The Real Coordinating Plan.

The statement of a representative of the national chapter of the American Red Cross, who was here recently, that her survey of local conditions revealed a lack of coordination among the various relief organizations of the city ought not to be dismissed without some thought.

The thought behind her statement is one that has been in the minds of a large number of civic leaders for some time, but which never has crystalized into any definite action.

The community chest plan of solicitation and distribution of funds for extension of work among the city's various civic and relief organizations has been discussed sufficiently. It is generally agreed that the plan has much more merit than the present method of individual effort. It has been indorsed by at least two large local fraternal organizations during the last year.

Here in Marion several drives for funds fell short of their goals last year. One of the organizations, the Marion County Chapter Red Cross, saw its life threatened, until a group of civic-spirited business and industrial leaders came through with sufficient funds to keep it alive.

It is to be believed that should the community chest plan of solicitation and distribution be drafted here, thoroughly explained to the public and the budget carefully studied, Marion would rally about its standards and put it "over the top," with much greater success than attends any single campaign.

Now perhaps we're been all wrong in thinking that Cincinnati, Columbus and Cleveland have not been playing as good a game of baseball as they might have. They probably just do not choose to win the pennants in their respective leagues.

Paternalism Passes.

Education as you like it is to be the rule at the little Ohio college called Antioch where many educational innovation has been inaugurated. Often have the eyes of the greatest educators of the nation been fixed upon the little school down at Yellow Springs where the leaders of the institution's affairs have not been afraid to blaze new education trails and strike out into new fields.

The students down at Antioch are to be allowed to learn their lessons when and how it suits them best and the faculty won't care if they attend classes one day or six days a week, just so they master the subjects they enroll for.

The instructor will say to the student, "Here is an outline of your work for the entire term. Now, go ahead and plan your own program so that you can master the subject best in your own way." If they want to spend an entire week on one subject and then forget it for a month, that is up to them, just so they pass the examinations that come around every so often.

Emphasis has been placed upon the requirement that the student shall not come to the instructor for help until he has done his best to master the subject alone. Students who are found to be unable to carry the additional responsibility that this plan involves will be asked to leave, college officials say.

Ever since Senator Simeon D. Fess first occupied the president's chair at Antioch, that college has been an outstanding example of an institution that requires its students to stand on their own feet as much as possible. It is probably as far removed from the old-fashioned paternalistic educational system as any college in the country. Most of its students have been comparatively poor boys who needed no pedagogical coddling but who welcomed the opportunity to do things for themselves, under proper guidance.

If the plan started at Antioch is developed to its logical conclusion, it may be possible some day to start a college going and then go away and leave it, trusting that it will keep on going by itself.

Arouse the public's curiosity; there's your best advertisement, is the admonition of a Toledo writer. Looks as if Baby Smith, of Cleveland, might have been the inspiration for that paragraph.

Aloft with Leo.

The flyers who set out with a lion passenger in the trip across the country to New York must have been reminded of the old, familiar limerick about the young lady from Niger, who, it will be remembered, went out for a ride with a tiger. The sad story goes on to say that they came back from the ride with the lady inside and a smile on the face of the tiger. They had reason to be anxious lest the man from the west who went flyin' in a plane with a man-eating lion had to call off the flight when he made just one bite for the man-eating high-flying lion.

On the other hand, if the flight was a bid for publicity, what better way to get it than to manage to get lost for a day or so?

A street sign for motorists in New York state reads: "Children Don't Think. We Must." Why just penalize the children?

New Deals for Criminals.

There seems to be merit in the contention of one of Ohio's women state senators, Mrs. Maude C. Wiatt, that Ohio's criminals could be punished, corrected, and reformed much more efficiently if changes were made in the state penal system.

Mrs. Wiatt questions whether the best interests of society are being served at the Mansfield reformatory, where, she says, statistics indicate that there are incarcerated a great number of "repeaters" and that a great many judges in the state are sending there men over thirty years of age to mingle with the youthful offenders, for whom she says the institution was originally intended.

She calls the Mansfield reformatory "a hotbed of youthful crime" and says she feels that, in some way, the whole penal system should be so revised that the Mansfield prison, as it now is should cease to exist.

The plan advanced by Mrs. Wiatt for the reorganization of the penal system, which she recommends, is a novel one, at least. She would classify all prisoners into abnormal, feeble-minded, habitual criminal, insane and hopeful groups and would segregate each group in a separate institution.

She would have all convicted criminals sentenced to a receiving station at the Ohio penitentiary, where a board of classification, through mental and physical tests, would tell which class the offender should go into. It should be possible, she believes, for a man to go from one class to another, in case of error.

The length of sentences would be regulated by the state parole board, she thinks, and she would have it given power to extend the sentences of strictly anti-social convicts.

Abuses inevitably creep into every penal system and have since the beginning of history. In the past quarter century, radical improvements have been made in the treatment of prisoners and society will be better for giving serious consideration to the proposals which the Ohio woman senator has just made.

"Now it's strange that no one really got stirred up when Mr. McAdoo announced that he did not 'choose' to run," asserts the Cincinnati Enquirer. Maybe no one thought he had any choice in the matter.

She Will Be Ready.

The sympathy of the nation goes out to Margaret Gibbs, the sixteen-year-old twin joined to her sister, Mary, who is near death with pneumonia.

Specialists attending the Holyoke, Massachusetts, twin declare there is no hope for the recovery of Mary, who suffered a relapse following an attack of influenza. More than that, they fear to hope that Margaret, the sister, can be saved. For in no instance, they say, has the death of one Siamese twin failed to cause the death of the other.

Margaret lies there, perfectly well, while her sister, to whom she is joined, is near death. She lies there knowing that, probably when the angel of death touches Mary he also will touch her.

It is a truly sorrowful situation, but how many of us will have such an opportunity to prepare for death? Most of us are called without preparation. We know not the day, nor the hour. There is that consolation for Margaret Gibbs that if her earthly life can not be saved she will be ready for the other, the eternal life.

The Elyria gas rate controversy is assuming the proportions of the now ancient spinning game of put and take. One puts out a proposal and the other takes it away.

Enticing China with Shoes.

Congressman Jim Begg has been pointing out that it is vital that American business should create a market for American products throughout the world, if the American standard of living is to remain at its present level or rise.

In casting his eye around over the world to find some one who needs something that the United States might be able to supply, his glance happened to rest upon the ill-shod Chinese. The Sandusky congressman has decided it is very important that the swarms of Chinese coolies should have shoes.

No patent leather kicks or made-to-order oxfords, of course, but merely something that might reasonably be described as foot-covering. Even if they should not always be just the right sizes would not make so much difference for, on the Yangtze, what's a bunion more or less between friends?

The eloquent Mr. Begg draws a pathetic picture of China with most of its saffron millions barefooted and the rest hobbling about in wooden shoes. He adds that there are a billion and a half people in the Orient and that at night, most of them are hungry. He does not explain how more shoes would relieve their hunger, unless it might be that if the shoes pinched hard enough, the coolies would forget their hunger and all their other troubles.

Readers of O. Henry's tales will recall how one of his ingenious heroes devised a way to create a market for American shoes in a foreign land where shoes had not been before. This commercial adventurer found a South American country with not more than one pair of shoes to every 10,000 of its population. After he had shipped a cargo of shoes there, he found that the natives had no desire to wear them. Not to be outdone, the Yankee business man ordered a consignment of carpet tacks which he scattered through the native villages, and after a few brown feet had been punctured, he sold his shoes at his own price.

America needs to create foreign markets for its products and if it's shoes to be sold to the Chinese, we may be able to learn from O. Henry.

Take it as you would: one reverend gentleman finds religion growing in Chicago's loop, while a newspaper headline tells us that a girl "petter" held up a taxi with a toy pistol to buy party shoes.

Connie Mack had hopes, but alas, the strain has told on him. Now he has a fan arrested for jeering his players, saying it wrecked their nerves. Pretty soon we'll have to substitute the Chautauqua salute for cheering.

Heart a Factor in Baldness.

BY ROYAL S. COPELAND, M. D.

When you find hair falling out what do you do about it? I know what you do. You run to the drug store to get a bottle of hair tonic. You go to have your hair singed.

What is the cause of baldness? Is it due to some germ, or to a failure of the nourishment within the hair itself? You will be surprised to learn why some folks don't get bald and others do. It all depends on the heart and the circulation of the blood.

You wouldn't expect a strawberry bed to grow fruit if it were dried up for want of water. Unless there is abundant rainfall or some provision for irrigation, there will be no moisture, no thriving of the plants and no fruit.

You can't have hair unless its roots are nourished by an abundance of blood. Nothing that you put on the hair itself, no treatment that you apply to the hair itself, is likely to keep you from baldness.

The vital part of the hair is what we refer to as the "root." On this, much as a strawberry rests on its hull or base, rests the hair. In a sense, the individual hair is a dead thing. It has no feeling, no impulses. It would have no growth at all if separated from the hair bulb, richly supplied with blood vessels and with rich, red blood.

If the heart is a soft beating organ, lacking force to pump the blood to the extremities, including the scalp, there is insufficient nourishment of the hair roots. Then there can be no growth of strong, vigorous looks and if something interferes with free circulation such hair as you have will fall.

The surest guarantee of permanent hair is a good, strong heart. Then, if you will wear a light hat, —large enough in the hatband—you may expect to have and to hold an abundant head of hair.

A heavy hat, a tight hat, worn all the time, will cut off the circulation of the blood vessels which run from below, and are intended to carry a full supply of blood to the hair roots. Anything which interferes with the circulation or quality of the blood, will have its effects upon the hair.

The best hair tonic you can have is the tonic of good health. Systematic exercise of such a nature as to stimulate and strengthen the heart is desirable. The eating of mineral carrying foods, particularly the fruits and vegetables will help.

You realize, of course, that it is the training in early life and the beginning of the practice of right living then, that are necessary to avoid baldness. When once the process has begun and particularly after the baldness is acquired, it is practically impossible to remedy the condition.

Baldness is only one of many ills which can be avoided by a lifetime of correct living.

ANSWERS TO HEALTH QUERIES.

R. P. Q.—How can I get rid of dandruff and falling hair?

A.—This may be cured by properly shampooing the hair once a week with a pure soap and using a tonic every other night. For particulars send a self-addressed, stamped envelope and repeat your question.—Copyright, 1927.

Dr. Copeland will answer for readers of this paper questions on medicinal, hygienic and sanitation subjects that are of general interest. Where the subject of a letter is such that it can not be published in this column, Dr. Copeland will, when the question is a proper one, write you personally if a self-addressed, stamped envelope is enclosed. Address all inquiries to Dr. Royal S. Copeland, in care of this office.

Vagrant Verse.

THIS IS PRISCILLA.

[Overheard in New England.]

Oh, I'm tired of the everrday
Things, she said,
Tired of sleeping on
A chintz-covered bed;
Of sitting in an overstuffed
High backed chair,
And wearing prim lady-frocks,
And braiding down my hair.

I'm tired of the stupid old
Town-made things,
Smart silly motor cars
And thin gold rings.
I want to ride an elephant,
And wear a bright veil,
All blue and bronze and golden
Like a peacock's tail.

I want a lovely palanquin,
Curiously made
Of ebony and ivory
And lazuli and jade.
I want a castle in the sun,
A garden in the moon,
And all the stars to come for tea
On Sunday afternoon.

I want a poet and a prince,
And seven white doves,
And these shall be my family,
And those shall be my loves.
The prince shall take me riding
On his swift Arab mare,
The poet made a golden song
About my golden hair.

And all the seven doves shall be
Around us there for company.

HOME TOWN THOUGHTS.

Good words for your home town cost nothing, but they are seeds that bring results.

No city was ever put ahead by finding fault with the people who are trying to accomplish things in its behalf.

"All things come to him who waits," says the old proverb, but if you advertise they come about ten times as quickly.—Newark Advocate.

UNAFRAID.

Attorney Gilliom, of Indiana, is a man of courage. He has shown to the people of the United States how little he cares for threat and bigoted menace in his state. His probe has reached deeply into a mass of intolerance and corruption.

He has handled the klan and the Anti-Saloon league after the fashion they deserve—Stephenson is in the penitentiary and Schumaker is a discredited man. He has these organizations on the run. He has created for himself in the public estimation something like the place Coolidge made for himself in handling the Boston police strike. He has led the timid whisperers of his state out into the open, where they dare voice their minds. He has taken the Anti-Saloon league of the state and put a ring in its nose. He beholds the klan's influence disintegrating, largely due to his own indomitable, courageous efforts in opposition to this maleficent force. He has shown that the assumptions of virtue by the league and klan were false assumptions. He has exposed their secretive and violent methods. He has torn from them their masks of hypocrisy and their hoods of cowardice. He has made them face the invincible power of tolerance and moderation.

He still is at death grips with the militant league, which is reluctant to abandon its exercise of unlimited political power. He offers to the people of the great state of Indiana a superb leadership, for he has been fighting, practically, alone. Let his people get solidly behind him and the outrages and intolerance ever to be found associated with league and klan activities forever will be banished from the state.—Cincinnati Enquirer.

CANNED SALMON A DELICACY.

"Cut throat" trout seem to be plentiful in Yellowstone park, but Pacific salmon, a much more important fish economically, have been singularly scarce this year. Great concern has been caused by the failure of the salmon to reach the Alaskan coast and by a reduction of eighty per cent. in the season's pack.

In former years it has been prompt in arriving at the salmon canneries. In fact, we are told that "scientists have mapped the whole coast and timed to a day just when certain species of salmon should arrive at a given cannery." The hordes of fish ran into the cans almost, if not quite, as true to schedule as a railroad train, and because they were so set in their ways salmon packing became a large industry in Pacific coast states and in Alaska.

But, alas for the Alaskan packing industry, only a miserable remnant of the millions of fish that formerly reached Alaska have been seen. It looks as if the salmon packers will have to appeal for government aid, encouraged by the interest that President Coolidge is manifesting in fishing. At least, government agencies will be asked to answer the puzzling question as to what has happened to the salmon. Has increase in seal herds in the Bering sea depleted them or has a submarine disturbance scared them away? These and other queries are being advanced.

While not so serious as shortage in certain crops, the salmon shortage is certain to be hard on the consumer, as well as on the packers. Canned salmon will be higher, and, if the same conditions prevail next spring, it may become a delicacy that only the very rich can afford.—St. Louis Globe-Democrat.

"ALL IS VANITY."

In these days when women are accused of having "stolen," or at least adopted, so many of man's prerogatives, it is comforting for the girls to discover even one evidence that vanity, personal vanity, is a masculine weakness, too. Women have always been considered the fussy ones in matters of personal appearance, and so forth. But now a recent survey tells us that men are vain about their heights. In fact, they wish so fervently to live up to the ideal of the big, strong, six-footer, that they are not above a little white lie where height is concerned. The man who is anywhere from five and one-half feet upwards will refer to his height as being "about six feet." When he is taller than six feet, two inches, however, the white lie is on the other side of the measuring stick, and he likes to pretend that he isn't quite as tall as he really is. Exceptionally tall men are inclined to stoop, and abnormally short men strut, we gather from the survey's confessional. In this regard, if one reviews a list of his acquaintances, the very short men among them usually develop a Napoleonic complex which is soothing if one has to be a "great little guy."—Detroit Free Press.

Know ye that the Lord He is God: it is He that hath made us, and not we ourselves; we are His people, and the sheep of His pasture.—Psalm 100:3.

The Way of the World.

BY GROVE PATTERSON.

Summer is over and summer sports give way before the lengthening shadows of fall and winter. It is time to read. Don't worry if you are not keeping up with the new books. Read the old ones first—the ones that have stood the stormy weather of the years. If you are about to read a modern novel, change your mind for a few days and read Thomas Hardy's 'Tess of the D'Urbervilles' or "The Mayor of Casterbridge" or "Jude the Obscure." If you care for realism they have more realism and better realism than all the moderns.

Speaking of reading, recall the words of Daniel Webster: "Knowledge, in truth, is the great sun in the firmament. Life and power are scattered with all its beams."

There is no getting away from the fact that the prizes of the world are for those who know.

An old proverb says to "be content with your lot while you look for a better."

That's more than merely an old saw. It expresses the desirable end of a whole personal philosophy. The calm confronting of circumstances, the acceptance of things as they are—that is the way to peace. But this does not mean we should lack the enterprise and courage to change our circumstances when the way really opens.

Seventeen thousand divorce suits are pending in the Chicago courts. This does not mean that they system of marriage is a failure. It merely means that too many young folks are getting married before they are prepared, financially or otherwise. They lack the judgment of maturity. Youth must ever proceed by mistakes. It is too bad that some of their mistakes must last so long and be so serious.

A traveler in England finds the state of the British workingman much below that of the American. The principal reason is not merely one of wages and home conditions. Britain is a country of classes. The thing that makes the American worker what he is will be found in his determination to better himself—to rise from the place in which he is to a better place. He knows that no social barrier stands in his way. He will be accepted for what he is worth. Nobody cares who his grandfather was.

The difference between a "going" man, and one who is not, lies in the single word ambition. The right to ambition is the single greatest heritage of the rank and file of us in America.

Views of Those in Public Eye.

MAJOR MAURICE CAMPBELL.

Major Maurice Campbell has added the job of prohibition administrator to the long list of varied occupations which have been his from time to time. He has been a veterinary surgeon, theatrical producer, war correspondent, soldier and movie director.

The majority of the American people are law-abiding, Major Campbell believes. He says:

"No one can justly make the statement that the majority of the American people are violators of the prohibition law. The class of people who make it profitable for the bootlegger to operate, in most instances, are those individuals whose welfare is not vital to this republic. They are generally what I would call wasters of the human race; leeches, parasites, if you will. The brawn and sinew of the nation, that portion of our people whose welfare is vital to the nation, is abstemious today, and prohibition has done this much for us.

"Prohibition has taken away the temptation to labor to squander the money it earns in drink. In the old days there was the saloon where the laborer could spend his earnings. Now there is no such possibility, and labor has not turned to the speakeasy and the cabaret. The laboring people are not frequenters of unlawful drinking places. This is proved by the fact that our savings bank accounts have increased over $3,000,000,000 in the last few years.

"Prohibition is not as unpopular with the majority of Americans as some persons would lead us to believe and the attitude of future generations toward it will entirely change as the years progress and its benefits become more and more apparent.

"Among certain persons, some young persons, it is thought smart to carry a flask. By some it is considered a necessity form of amusement. I believe that in years to come this will change. The children of today, in other words the backbone of the nation, will group up in this atmosphere of prohibition and with a consequent increasing respect for this much criticized eighteenth amendment.

"The enforcement of prohibition must be made popular, and this can be done only through a legal and just administration of the law. The constitutional rights of citizens must not be transgressed. Sometimes it would seem that effective results might be obtained by disregarding the legal rights of individuals, but in every instance the laws attempted to be so enforced have had a setback."

The new tunnel under the Mersey river to connect Liverpool and Birkenhead will cost $35,000,000 to build and take five years in construction. It will be two and a half miles long and will carry two roads for traffic, one above the other.

Speaking of Dempsey.

BY O. O. M'INTYRE.

Los Angeles, Sept. 22 — The night before Jack Dempsey entrained for Chicago several weeks ago, I spent the evening at his home on Los Feliz boulevard. The home, not at all pretentious, sits on a wide expanse of lawn surrounded by a clipped hedge with a steep hill rising in the rear.

Dempsey meets people well, yet there is an engaging and boyish shyness about him. He has a panther-like nervousness. He was concerned at the time about the illness of his wife, Estelle Taylor, and slipped away to her bedside several times. During the evening he called me to a side porch.

There in a hammock was the faithful and omnipresent Jerry the Greek, his trainer. He is a sly, partly bald, squat and phlegmatic fellow whose devotion and manner are somehow remindful of the loyal St. Bernard. Dempsey told me after he lost his championship to Tunney, Jerry was so despondent he was watched constantly to frustrate a threat to commit suicide.

Dempsey's home is built for comfort more than show. It has a "homey" atmosphere. On the lawn frolicked a Pekinese and the rarest sort of dog I ever saw—a coal black pug. Dempsey explained he did not keep liquor in his home, although he is not a strict teetotaler, but would like to mix us a cocktail.

It was a pinkish, sour drink, well chilled and extremely palatable—but without the customary wallop. He referred to the man who cost him his crown frequently as "Mr. Tunney" and with respect. Dempsey's love for children is always noticeable.

A little neighbor girl with charming curls came running in and plopped herself beside him. Her eyes were all for her copper bronze hero and he chatted with her in the easy manner rarely accomplished by grown-ups. Later in a call at another home there was a little five-year-old boy and most of the evening he sat on the ex-champion's lap.

He seemed perfectly sincere when several called him Mr. Dempsey to admonish: "Everybody calls me Jack. Mister Dempsey never sounds right. I feel embarrassed." His hotel in Los Angeles is prospering and so are several real estate ventures. His financial security is secure.

Rupert Hughes also has a beautiful home on Los Feliz boulevard and at a dinner in honor of Ray Long and Roy Howard the other evening he announced he had been up all night finishing the second volume of the history of George Washington. A third volume also will be written. It is a labor of love.

Yesterday Adolph Bernheimer took a group of us over the grounds of the new home he is building on the fringe of Los Angeles. He built that famous hill-top Hollywood Japanese home for several millions and when it was finished sold it for a paltry sum. He is now in the second year of building his new home.

It will take, he says, ten years to finish the job. The grounds wind around to a dizzy peak which gives a sweeping view of Santa Monica beach and the Pacific. The serpentine ramps to the lofty height are so graded you have the feeling of walking on level ground. At each turn is a magnificent bronze set in concrete.

Mr. Bernheimer is a bachelor reputed worth $50,000,000. He spends much time in the Orient and his home is filled with treasures from there. His new home will be a small affair of five rooms with a row of small guest houses on the top pinnacle. He has concentrated artistic ideas chiefly on the grounds, studded with Japanese trees and Japanese and California flowers.

And at a dinner at Dr. Frank Crane's, who is now living here permanently, were Judge Ben Lindsay and William S. Hart. Curiously enough Judge Lindsay is as lively as a cricket and Hart as solemn as a judge. Rob Wagner, pioneer writer about Hollywood, was also there.

One of the institutions of Los Angeles is the Breakfast club. The big bugs in the financial and industrial world go there every Friday morning at 6 o'clock and horseback ride until 7. Dinner Stories.

It came to this, that the solicitous father uptown decided to tell his son all about life. "Son," the father said, "if you want to know anything about yourself or about people or anything else don't ask other boys—just come to me."

For a time the lad was silent. Then he began, and the father prepared himself for a question that might have to be answered diplomatically and delicately. "It's about something in the drug store," the boy declared. "Will it be all right for me to ask?"

The father faltered, but he quickly regained composure and said: "Yes, my son, ask me your question. I will try to answer it and to make everything clear so that you can understand."

And then the question came: "Father, what is 'canned' heat?"

We are reminded that the open season for conventions is now on by a snatch of conversation we heard in a hotel lobby recently. Two brother something-or-others had bumped into each other.

"Did you get a room all right?" one of them asked.

"What do I want with a room?" replied the other with disdain. "I am only going to be here three days."

Mabel Walker Willebrandt May Be Drafted as Candidate

MABLE WILLEBRANT

Her record as assistant attorney general's the wonder of Washington—not among women alone, either. If anything hardened old campaigners of the uglier sex are even more respectful of it. The more they know about politics the more they take off their hats to what Mrs. Willebrandt's done [illegible] assistant attorney general[illegible]—it was handed to her as [illegible]bility under the federal [illegible] and look at the asset she's [illegible]!

[illegible] these are more women than [illegible] dryests. So women will [illegible] of the howling about non[illegible]—unless they're hushed up [illegible] Giving 'em a woman en[illegible] chief may hush 'em.

"The poker's red hot at both ends anyway. None of us men wants to hold it. What say we award it in recognition of the women voters? Carried? — unanimously. Here ladies!"

SINCE then—what?

Prohibiton reorganization has followed prohibition reorganization—except in Mrs. Willebrandt's office.

Dry Czar Haynes has gone. Dry Czar Andrews has quit licked. Dry Czar Lowman already is in boiling water. We all know what befell Daugherty. Lesser lights too numerous to mention have been snuffed out. Assistant Attorney General Willebrandt carries on serenely.

From the president on down, hardly an official has escaped both wet and dry criticism. Nobody's found any fault with Mrs. Willebrandt.

Out of scandals a-plenty none has smirched her administration.

TO say that Mrs. Willebrandt has prosecuted liquor law violations as efficiently as anybody possibly could, is too fall far short of doing her justice—her efficiency has had twenty times the quality that any other dry official under the government has shown himself capable of.

If she's bucked an impossiblity, at least she's made a marvelous absolutely unequalled effort toward accomplishing it.

But the really amazing part of it is that she's done all this without creating any violent antagonisms. She's been energetic without fanaticism or rancor. At the same time that the dryest drys praise her the wettest wets call her a square shooter.

BEYOND question she's our outstanding assistant attorney general.

Marshall, Galloway, Letts, Parmenter, Lubring, Farnum—those are the others. Lots of people never heard of one of 'em. Everybody's heard of Mrs. Willebrandt.

Women's organizations hate to waste her indefinitely in an appointive position. Appointments are comparatively easy to get—they're always to be had if the demand for them is strong enough. Elections have to be won.

The feminist political managers in Washington have Mrs. Willebrandt tagged as one of maybe half a dozen of their surest fire candidates in the country.

An Outline of Fashion

BEING A REVIEW—IN STORY AND PICTURE—OF WOMEN'S STYLES DURING THE LAST HUNDRED YEARS

This is the first of a series of six articles on the "Outline of Fashion," as depicted by Mme. Lisbeth, fashion expert for Central Press and The Star. The series covers completely the style trends of the last hundred years, the first instalment, below, dealing with the "leg-o-mutton" era—1827 to 1837.

BY MME. LISBETH

NEW YORK, Sept. 22—A century ago, in the year 1827, leg-o-mutton sleeves, wide, flaring skirts an inch from the ground, huge cart-wheel hats with nodding plumes and floating streamers marked the day's fashions.

The period from 1827 to 1837 might be called the "leg-o-mutton" era. Milady moved softly on little heeless slippers. She was devastatingly feminine as she swished along with her silken skirts and innumerable petticoats.

Somewhat Inconvenient

Records at the Arnold Constable Co. shop, Fifth avenue, New York, which recently celebrated its centenary, show that department store aisles had to be widened to allow the lady of the day to pass down them.

Carriage dresses, opera dresses, dinner party gowns, walking and evening dresses, all were marked by the leg-o-mutton sleeve, long, bustling skirt, broad shoulders and cramped waistline.

The hats were huge cartwheels, raised at the side, ornamented with mounds of ribbon, plumes and flowers with long ribbon streamers depending from them.

In 1830 the shoulder began sloping, the waistline dropped to normal position and was belted, the skirt was raised a bit above the ankles.

Waist Was Wasplike

Five years later the shoulder line was many inches below the normal position, and the voluminous sleeve was gathered fully at the shoulder and again at the wrist, more like a bishop than a leg-o-mutton.

The pulled-in waist seemed wasplike in contrast with the sleeves and full, gathered skirt, which was a bare inch from the ground.

The small, poke bonnet, the brim high in front and worn with tied or floating streamers and veil was the daytime hat, while the headdress for evening was often a turban.

Victoria ascended the throne of England in 1837, and with the famous Victorian era the crinoline came into vogue.

CONGRESSMAN FLETCHER ADDRESSES STUDENTS

"Teamwork" was the subject of an inspiring address by Congressman Thomas Brooks Fletcher in chapel at Central Junior High School yesterday morning. Mrs. Fletcher entertained with two delightful vocal numbers, Mrs. Marie Kimmel Baker playing her accompaniment at the piano. The chapel was the first assembly period at Central for the year.

The Message That Built Up Our Business

Merchandise talks, even more loudly than Money, and it speaks a language that Mr. Average Man and Woman understands very well.

Every article that you buy in our stores carries a message into your home—a message that is repeated day after day—often, year after year—a message that does more to build up our business than thousands of pages of newspaper advertising.

Twenty-five years ago the founder of this business realized that his future depended on this message. Our present organization of 885 stores, scattered thruout 46 states, has been built up entirely on the strength of what our merchandise has told you about us for a quarter of a century.

They Called Her Scrawny But Not For Long

Is your face drawn and pinched? Your skin flabby? Are your cheeks sunken with great hollows under the eyes? Does your figure show unbecoming angles instead of the softly rounded slimness of youth?

All these conditions rob you of attractiveness and make you look old. But worst of all, these may actually be the symptoms of simple anaemia—that dread ailment so often suffered by women.

There's nothing so good as McCoy's Tablets to put on firm flesh, round out face and figure and build up rich, red blood.

So if you need a few pounds of flesh to round out the hollows, if you want to get back oldtime energy and health, get a box of McCoy's Tablets today. Just a short treatment will make you look and feel like a new person.

McCoy takes all the risk—Read this ironclad guarantee. If after taking 4 sixty cent boxes of McCoy's Tablets or 2 One Dollar boxes any thin, underweight man or woman doesn't gain at least 5 pounds and feel completely satisfied with the marked improvement in health—your druggist is authorized to return the purchase price.

Just ask for McCoy's Tablets at any drug store in America.—Adv.

No More Hemorrhoids

Thousands Bless Dr. Leonhardt, Who Discovered This Common Sense Pile Remedy

If you think that the surgeon's knife is the only method of escape from the misery of piles, it's because you haven't heard of the new treatment known as Dr. Leonhardt's HEM-ROID.

This Doctor's treatment is internal. By experimenting, he discovered the cause of piles and then went further and compounded a remedy that would remove the cause.

Every pile sufferer should benefit by his discovery and so that there will be no doubting or delay, Heuney & Cooper and all druggists are authorized to sell HEM-ROID with guarantee that it will do as stated or money back.

On that honorable basis every sufferer should secure a package of Dr. Leonhardt's HEM-ROID today.—Adv.

Things to Know Before Baby Comes

During expectancy and at childbirth many muscles, tissues and nerves undergo great strain and tension. Much of this suffering may be avoided by simple means.

The method is not a new thing. It has been successful for over three generations. Tonight! apply Mother's Friend to the abdomen, back and hips. It relieves tension and soothes the nerves. Do this each night and you will be amazed how effectively Mother's Friend aids the muscles and tissues to expand more easily during expectancy.

"Everyone was surprised how well I got along," writes Mrs. Alfred E. Ammon, Muncie, Ind. "My pains disappeared after using Mother's Friend and I was sick only an hour and a half at baby's birth."

Start using Mother's Friend tonight and write for free booklet on "Things to Know Before Baby Comes" (sent in plain envelope). Mother's Friend is sold by all druggists—everywhere.

Late that same day Nye asks Sally if she knows of a stenographer to take the place of his, who has just married, and Sally tells him about Millie. But the next day he is called out of town because of his mother's illness, and Sally is greatly relieved because she thinks perhaps Millie will get another job in his absence.

She borrows some money from Sally to "tide her over." Then Sally spends some more of her weekly salary on a party that Beau and Mabel give in the flat, expecting them to return it to her. They refuse to cheerfully, and Beau even tries to borrow $5 from Sally who is "flat broke." In addition, they have used up most of the food in the flat and Sally decides that the only thing she can do is to go to her AUNT EMILY, her father's sister, for some money.

Now Go on with the Story

CHAPTER VIII

WHENEVER Sally was in great trouble she went straight to her father's sister, Miss Emily Jerome.

Aunt Emily's house was a quaint old house far out on the River road. It had belonged in the Jerome family for more than 50 years.

Outside it was all weather beaten clapboards and loose-hinged shutters. But within it was bright and clean, with its creamy woodwork, its gay hooked rugs, its flowerpots and crisp muslin curtains.

Sally often said to herself that the inside of Aunt Emily's house must be very like the inside of Aunt Emily's soul—shining and white and cheerful.

It always gave her a sense of peace and comfort, somehow, to turn in at the gate and start up the flagged walk to the door, with its fan-light and its brass knocker.

Tonight the door stood hospitably open and beyond the wide old-fashioned hall was filled with shadows, as she walked into it.

"Yoo-hoo!" she called, and from behind the closed door of the kitchen Aunt Emily's voice answered her faintly, like an echo:

"Yoo-hoo!"

Then she came with a rush to greet her, and gave her a quick little pecking kiss on each cheek.

Everything that Aunt Emily did she did all of a sudden. Although she never would see 40 again, she moved about as quickly and lightly as Sally, herself. She talked briskly. And when she made up her mind to do a thing she made it up in two minutes. Then she went ahead and did it at once and with great speed. She hated what she called "hemming and hawing" about things.

"Well, isn't this nice!" she chirped, and her black eyes seemed to snap a welcome to her niece. "I was just going to sit down to supper all by myself, and I surely do dislike to eat alone!"

"Where are Roxy and Mary?" asked Sally, following Aunt Emily out to the neat blue-and-white kitchen.

Roxy and Mary Muldoon were two sisters who had been "paying guests" in Aunt Emily's house for years. Like her, they were school teachers of uncertain age.

"Oh, they've gone home for a visit before school opens," answered Aunt Emily, opening the oven door and taking out a pan of golden-brown Parker House rolls.

She emptied them out upon a clean tea towel, and flew into the pantry for a pitcher of iced tea and some cold fried chicken on a blue platter.

"I'm awfully glad you happened out here tonight, Sally," she said, pouring the tea into two tall amber glasses and decorating them with sprigs of fresh mint. "I wanted to talk to you about a scheme of mine. If you hadn't dropped in, I was going to call you up at the office tomorrow."

Aunt Emily hardly ever went to the Jerome flat. Her sister-in-law's ways drove her frantic, so she said. Her "slippy-come-slippy" ways," she called them—lying in bed 'til all hours of the morning, and sitting by the hour reading silly books! She couldn't understand such habits, for the life of her!

Tonight Sally saw that she had something on her mind. There was a little frown between her brows, and her mouth, always straight and firm, was set with a sort of grim determination.

"You bring along the iced tea and that bowl of jelly, and we'll sit down and talk in peace," she said briskly. I'm sorry I haven't anything but a pick-up supper for you."

"Pick-up supper!" exclaimed Sally, "why, this is a feast!"

She knew that her aunt expected her to say that. Aunt Emily was always apologizing for the meals she set upon her table, knowing full well that they were wonderful meals. She liked to be told that they were feasts and that there was no cooking in the world like her cooking.

There were cucumber rings, a plate of sugar cookies, half of an almond-cream cake on the little table in the dining room now, besides the chicken, the rolls, and the iced tea.

"I suppose I'd better ask her to lend me the money I've got to have before she gets started on her own affairs," thought Sally, when the meal was almost over. For when her aunt started to talk, there was no turning her aside from her subject.

"Aunt Emily," she was beginning, when Aunt Emily opened her own lips and drowned her out.

"Well, Sally," she said. "I've made up my mind not to go back to school teaching this fall!"

Sally's dark blue eyes widened with astonishment. . . . Aunt Emily not going to teach school this fall! Why, it was unthinkable. Aunt Emily had been teaching school ever since Sally could remember.

"For goodness sake!" she gasped. "Why, what on earth are you going to do? Go to Europe?"

For years and years Aunt Emily had been promising herself a trip to Europe "to see a little something besides sign-boards and Ford cars," as she said tartly.

She shook her dark, glossy head now, as she pushed back her chair.

"No, indeed!" she replied. "I'm going to go into business—let's go out on the front porch and get a breath of fresh air. It's mighty hot in this room—the sun just bakes it all afternoon."

They went out and sat, side by side, on the top step, in the cool of the evening.

"I get so sick of looking at them," said Aunt Emily, who would have loved to own one herself.

Sally barely heard her. . . . If Aunt Emily was going into business, she told herself, she wouldn't dare ask her for the loan of that money. Aunt Emily would need every nickel of her money herself.

"And besides, I own her fifty or sixty dollars now," thought Sally, unhappily.

"What are you going to do, Aunt?" she asked.

Aunt Emily laughed.

"Well, nothing very grand," she said. "I'll probably fail at it, but then again, perhaps I won't. I'm going to turn this house into a wayside inn. . . . I'm going to start by serving chicken dinners on Sunday. Everybody tells me I'm a good cook—"

"You are!" Sally assured her. "But you're a good school teacher, too! And school teaching is such a nice job—such a ladylike job."

Her aunt sniffed. "Yes, and I've been doing it for exactly 22 years, and I'm sick of it. I want something new—something that I'm not sure I can do. Something that isn't an old story!" She seemed to bite down on the words, and through the blue-gray dusk Sally could see her eyes snap with enthusiasm and energy.

"Yes sir-ee-ee!" she added, with a nod of her head. "Something that's going to keep me hopping!"

She turned to the girl, suddenly. "Want to take a chance with me?" she asked. "I have a notion I'm going to make money—not right at the start, of course, but later on."

Without a second's hesitation, Sally shook her head. "I'd love to, but I can't," she said a bit wistfully. "You see, I'm sure of my job with Mr. Peevey—I'm sure of the $21 a week he gives me. And if you and I didn't make money at this wayside inn business, I don't know where I'd go to get a part-time job that would pay anything like $21 a week—"

Her voice trailed off into silence. It would be far more pleasant to be out here with Aunt Emily than sitting in Mr. Peevey's office week after week, knowing that just across the hall Millie was doing her best to make John Nye fall in love with her . . . and that was exactly what Millie would be doing!

"I wish I could stay, right now, Aunt Emily," she said again, getting up from the steps. "But I've got to run along. . . . It's Mother's hot milk and [illegible] powder."

"Hot milk!" [illegible]

"I've got to go" Sally broke in sharply, and went. She wouldn't let anyone—not even Aunt Emily—say a word against her mother. Poor Mother! . . . Why, anyone could look at her and see that she wasn't well, with all that unhealthy fat and the puffs under her eyes.

For a wonder, Beau and Millie were at home when Sally got there.

Mrs. Jerome sat with them at the dining room table. They had had their supper, and had a half can of sardines and some potato salad for Sally.

The potato salad was still in the pasteboard container in which Beau had brought it from the delicatessen. When Sally was not at home to get a meal the family always went to the delicatessen for what it wanted to eat.

Beau had been smoking numberless cigarets. The ends of them lay before him on a saucer, and he was reading an ad in the evening paper when Sally came into the room.

He looked up, grinned at her, and went on reading:

"—Nothing makes a man or girl so popular as knowing how to play a musical instrument. Learn to play a banjo, ukulele, mandolin or guitar, and be the life of the party wherever you go. You can buy one on the installment plan from—"

Sally interrupted him. "Beau!" she said to him, and there was despair in her voice. "PLEASE don't buy anything else on the installment plan! Look at the stuff we're trying to pay for now—the phonograph, and the radio. And it isn't any good now that we've got it!"

Beau looked from his mother to Millie. "You'd think she was paying for them to hear her rave, wouldn't you?" he asked. Beau always pretended that he was paying for everything in the flat. In his own mind, he was the head of an expensive and extravagant family.

Mrs. Jerome did not answer him. Neither did Millie . . . They both knew who was paying for the radio and the phonograph.

It was not Beau, for all of his brave talk.

It was Sally, of course.

To Be Continued.

A Story of Boyhood Adventure

BY JUDD M. LEWIS

There was a kinda slow rain when we were taking the cows to the pasture this morning, and it was kinda coolish. All the bunch went along, and when we had got the cows in we made a quick sneak a little further and got some of the biggest peaches I ever wropped my face around, and we were all eating peaches and laughing and having a good time when we went in the school-yard. I had bet Nibs and Pickles and Whitey that I could swallow a peach stone and I had swallowed three of them and was trying to get some more bets but the bunch had got too wise. It is not hard to swallow them if you swallow them hard end first.

We gave some of the girls some peaches, and then the bell rang and we formed in line and Jubilee barked goodbye and trotted out of the gate looking for cats, and when we were marching up the step the principle stool there and she reached out and got the Last Bag of Tripe by the collar and yanked him out of the line so sudden that his heels cracked together, and when I saw that the lady standing with the principle was Mush's wife, and her face looked oilish, sauce oilish there over. It looked like it had been fried and was still shiney, and her eyes looked like they were going to pop. And we didn't know anything about it till recess, and at recess we acted the Last Bag of Tripe what was the matter, and he said that Mush's wife [illegible] powder on her face [illegible] a picture about [illegible] to have [illegible]

The Last Bag of Tripe had went in her part of the basement yesterday to wash up, and so they asted him if he knowed anything that could of did it, and he said he thought fire would of did it. Then they asted him if he had anything to do with it and he looked like he was going to cry, the dirty crook, and said "No'm," so they let him go. He told us he didn't know for sure, but he would bet that someone got in there and found their red pepper and mixed it with the powder on her dresser. He is a crook, but it is none of our business what happens to Mush's wife. The only way I can stay up late is by playing checkers with my grandfather and letting him win, so I pulled Jubilee up and went to bed.

A Sequel to "Revelations of a Wife"

BY ADELE GARRISON

AT my announcement that the men at our dinner were to wear comfortable Summer clothing instead of evening dress, Philip Veritzen smiled with what I saw was distinct pleasure. Dicky had been mistaken. I told myself thankfully. The great producer, punctilious though he was, welcomed the opportunity to be comfortable as gladly as had the other men of the party.

"This is only another instance of your matchless good sense and thoughtfulness," he told me flamboyantly and confusedly. I marshaled my guests toward the entrance door.

"Mary, will you take care of Marion?" I called over my shoulder, and with a directing nod to Jim, who had come unobtrusively to the car and helped Otto with the luggage, I led my little procession to the upper hall, ushering Mr. Veritzen into my father's comfortable suite of sitting-room, bedroom and bath, an arrangement which he had made for himself after buying back the farmhouse from me.

"Dicky will come to you as soon as he is dressed," I assured him, and then I drew Lillian down the hall to my room, passing her own where Marion and Mary were already busily unpacking bags.

"I'll hang up everything," Marion called cheerily, evidently determined to atone for her inadvertent rudeness at the door.

"All right, darling, thank you," her mother called back, and then to me, as I shut my room door upon us:

"Why all the rubber-shoe stuff? What's happened?"

"Nothing very startling," I told her. "It's only that Noel Veritzen won't come to dinner unless his father knows that he is to be a guest and sanctions his presence here."

Lillian gave a low whistle.

"Well" she said at last, "you've got to hand it to the lad. He has a proper pride. But I can foresee a nice little session for you with dear old Phil."

"But I was hoping that you—" I faltered.

She turned and putting her hands on my shoulders looked quizzically into my eyes.

"You know very well that nobody on earth but you can hope to pull this stunt," she said.

I felt an oddly shame-faced reluctance to meet her eyes, but managed somehow to keep my gaze steady. It was a harder thing to keep my voice free from an embarrassed tremor, but I managed that also, even achieved a certain effect of amused nonchalance.

"Then we shall be looking a very forlorn bunch," I returned airily. "But if you absolutely refuse——"

"I most certainly do," Lillian said with emphasis.

"Then I'll do the best I can," I finished abruptly.

Lillian gave me an amused little laugh.

"You sound exactly as if you had just volunteered to go into the enemy camp and 'bring back the position'," she said. "But don't you ever, ever dare," quickly, as she saw my puzzled face. "You will return with your scalp, and as it—[illegible] pips and [illegible] phone."

The Star's Daily Story for Boys and Girls

BY FLORENCE S. VINCENT

WASHED UPON THE ROCKS

"SALT WATER TURTLE" stopped his story telling and looked at the crowd gathered about him.

"Well, grandson, what are you thinking of now" asked his grandmother. 'Something interesting, I'll be bound.'

"The traveler nodded.

"I was just wondering if you folks had any idea how many creatures there are that can live on the land as well as in the water besides ourselves and the Frogs and the Beavers and your very near neighbors of the pond and field. I tell you, one doesn't have to go to school to learn things when one can travel. Poor Mother Seal! What a shame!"

"Who is Mother Seal? What is a shame?" demanded inquisitive Box Tortoise.

"Two questions at once!" exclaimed the jolly Tar. 'And I'll answer both, but in my own good time.

"One afternoon I was sleeping on the sand in the sun when I was awakened by the strangest noise. "Thud! Swish! Flap!" I couldn't imagine what it was. I opened my eyes with a start and cautiously turned my head in the direction the sound, ready to crawl off at top speed should any danger threaten me. But what I saw was such a surprise I couldn't move a foot. Only a short distance away from me was the strangest animal I had ever seen.

"'A dog,' thought I. Nothing but a dog has a round head and pointed nose and such bright eyes as that, and just at that moment the creature barked—"Woof, Woof!" Then I was sure my guess was right.

"'Hello, Dog,' said I. "What are you doing on this lonely beach? I never heard that you were a long distance swimmer, and you never came down over all those great rocks above us."

"'I was going to ask more questions when the creature made a sudden turn and I saw that instead of having four legs like a dog its body was long—must have been every bit of six feet—and as slippery looking as an Eel's and tapering from the shoulders down, ended in two fish tails at the end

"'Hello,' yourself, Turtle. Basking in the sunshine, as usual, I see. Oh, that I could have made my own home rock, but the waves were too strong for me, and washed me ashore here. Better here than in the depths of the ocean, I suppose. Although my baby should have seen the light of day on the rock of my birth if it had not been for that blow on my head. It weakened me. I must have a nap now. I am all worn out struggling with the waves. Tell you all about it when I wake up."

"'And before I could say another word the stranger had clambered with his funny flippers up higher on the rocks and fallen into a doze, from which I had not the heart to waken her.'"

Doctor Found Women and Children Sick More Often than Men

W. B. Caldwell M.D. AT AGE 83

As a family doctor at Monticello, Illinois, the whole human body, not any small part of it, was Dr. Caldwell's practice. More than half his "calls" were on women, children and babies. They are the ones most often sick. But their illnesses were usually of a minor nature—cold, fevers, headaches, biliousness—and all of them required first a thorough evacuation. They were constipated.

In the course of Dr. Caldwell's 47 years' practice (he was graduated from Rush Medical College back in 1875), he found a good deal of success in such cases with a prescription of his own containing simple laxative herbs with pepsin. In 1892 he decided to use this formula in the manufacture of a medicine to be known as Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin, and in that year his prescription was first placed on the market.

The preparation immediately had as great a success in the drug stores as it previously had in Dr. Caldwell's private practice. Now, the third generation is using it. Mothers are giving it to their children who were given it by their mothers. Every second of the working day someone somewhere is going into a drug store to buy it. Millions of bottles of Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin are being used a year.

Its great success is based on merit, on repeated buying, on one satisfied user telling another. There are thousands of homes in this country that are never without a bottle of Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin, and we have gotten many hundreds of letters from grateful people telling us that it helped them when everything else failed.

While women, children and elderly people are especially benefited by Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin, it is promptly effective on the most robust constitution and in the most obstinate cases. It is mild and gentle in its action and does not cause griping and strain. Containing neither opiates nor narcotics, it is safe for the tiniest baby. Children like it and take it willingly.

Every drug store sells Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin. Keep a bottle in your home,—where many live someone is sure to need it quickly.

We would be glad to have you prove at our expense how much Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin can mean to you and yours. Just write "Syrup Pepsin," Monticello, Illinois, and we will send you prepaid a FREE SAMPLE BOTTLE.—Adv.

Marion County Farmers Warned to Guard Against Hessian Fly

CARE URGED IN SOWING WHEAT

Bulletin Gives Instructions in Campaign To Curb Infestation

Farmers in the northern part of Marion County should not sow wheat before Sept. 26 and those in the southern part of the county before Sept. 27, if Hessian fly infestation is to be curbed.

This information is contained in a bulletin mailed out by the Ohio Agricultural Experiment Station, Wooster. A copy of the bulletin has been received by S. B. Stowe, Summit-st, former Marion County agricultural agent.

Facts on a survey made by the experiment station in 34 counties of the state are presented in an article appearing in the bulletin, written by J. S. Houser. Although Marion County was not one of the counties included in the survey the amount of infestation may be judged from figures on nearby communities.

Nearby Counties

According to the report of the survey the infestation in Delaware County was 24 per cent. In Crawford County, directly north of Marion the infestation was 28 per cent and in Hardin County it was 47 per cent. The heaviest infestation was reported in Hancock County, directly north of Hardin County, where the percentage was placed at 49. Southern counties had the least.

"It is a well established fact," Mr. Houser says in his article, "determined through years of observation, that Hessian fly infestation is periodical in nature. That is, a series of years in which the fly has been comparatively abundant will be followed by series in which the injury is correspondingly light.

"The reason for the fluctuating damage is easily understood. When the insect is relatively scarce, the parasites which are responsible for its destruction find difficulty in locating the insects in which to develop and as a result the fly outstrips these natural enemies and builds up its numbers by leaps and bounds.

Easy to Locate

"However as soon as the fly becomes abundant the parasites have less difficulty in locating it and as a result they too multiply rapidly—much more rapidly than the pests. Since several species of these parasites exist, they soon overcome the fly and eradicate it, but not entirely.

"It is clearly evident that an average infestation of 30 to 50 per cent in June or July may mean two entirely different things so far as probable injury to the next crop is concerned. If the fly is on the increase a 30 to 50 per cent infestation may mean excessive losses to the next crop unless proper precautions are taken.

"The results of this year's survey, compared to the report of the preceding year indicates that the fly is on the increase and holds a greater menace to the crop to be sowed this fall than it has for several years past, particularly in northern Ohio.

Little External Evidence

"Farmers may have difficulty in believing the accurateness of these figures indicating as they do a rather heavy infestation of fly in parts of Ohio in the crop just cut, because this year there was very little external evidence of the presence of the insect.

"In other words there was very little breaking down of the straw. The failure of the straw to break down is easily accounted for in the fact that the spring growing season was an exceptionally favorable one for wheat production and the plants stood up well even in the presence of a considerable amount of fly. It is reasonable to assume that a little more fertilizer was used on wheat last fall than was customary. With the menace of the fly this fall the liberal use of fertilizer is recommended.

"To sow wheat early in Ohio this fall particularly in the northern sections of the state, will be highly hazardous. Fortunately the fly free date falls at approximately the time for sowing wheat which has been found to bring the best yields. This is advanced as another argument against early planting.

"It is earnestly recommended that the suggested dates be adhered to."

WORSE THAN ARMIES

WOOSTER, O., Sept. 22— The Hessian fly, brought over by the British-hired Hessians during the Revolutionary war, has proved a much greater pest than the defeated mercenaries, ever since. So say the government experts at the Ohio Agricultural Experimental station at Wooster.

They infest wheat, rye and barley, causing excessive losses to the farmers. Experiments at the station prove that the best way of avoiding the pest is to plant late in the fall, the earliest date being placed at September 22.

The eggs of the Hessian fly are deposited on the stalks, or just between the stalk and sheathing base of the leaf of the grain. The eggs are orange, reddish, elongated specks, barely visible to the naked eye. The young larva, when newly hatched, is reddish in color and only slightly larger than the egg. When the larva is full grown the body shrinks away from the outer skin, diminishes slightly in size, and becomes shining brown in color and of a tough, smooth texture. This is the puparium, or "flaxseed," in which state it is most easily detected.

The Hessian fly damage is periodical in nature. There will be a series of years in which damage by this pest is abundant and then a series when it will be comparatively light. It is found over most of North America, where wheat is grown, from Texas to the far north fields of Canada.

Plan Voted Down After Bitter Debate in Which Opponents Picture Danger of Establishing "Monarchial" Authority in Executive's Hands

Trocadero Palace, Paris, Sept. 22— A sharp conflict on the immigration question featured the closing business session of the American Legion convention today.

After a bitter debate, the legionnaires declined to approve a proposal to make the president of the United States an "immigration dictator," empowered to raise or lower the barriers of immigration at will.

The proposal was contained in a report presented by the Americanization committee of the Legion, urging congress to grant this power to the president.

Condemn Proposal

Delegates from Illinois and Pennsylvania condemned the proposal as an effort to grant the nation's chief executive a "monarchial and grave delegation of power."

After a verbal battle lasting half an hour, the Pennsylvania and Illinois delegates won their fight to have the resolution sent back to committee for revision.

A mixture of business and horse-play occupied the delegates on the closing day of the convention. With solemn ceremony, the Legionnaires elected Jay Ward, five years old, of Manicook, Pa., official mascot of the Paris pilgrimage.

Resolutions Passed

Thirty-nine resolutions dealing with various aspects of hospitalization and compensation for disabled veterans were passed by the delegates.

Awards in several of the Legion's contests were announced today. The Illinois delegation won the first prize for its male quartet, with Wisconsin second. The California delegates were awarded the Galbraith medal for having traversed the greatest number of miles to reach the convention site, Florida was second in this unique contest.

GRANTED DIVORCE

Petition of Harriet L. Davis Awarded By Court

Mt. Gilead, Sept. 22 — Harriet L. Davis was granted a divorce yesterday by Judge W. P. Vaughan. She was also given custody of a child and $10 per month for its support.

A motion filed by Prosecuting Attorney F. L. Meyers was overruled. It asked that the damage petitions of M. W. McKibbin, Ross St. Clair, Homer Hershner, H. A. Carter, and R. H. Crawford against the County Commissioners be made more definite. The plaintiffs asked damages allegedly sustained by them when the county appropriated sections of their land for road widening.

MOOSE BASKETBALL TEAMS PRACTICING

Galion Group's Season Will Open Late in November; Schedule Arranged

Galion, Sept. 22—In preparation for a difficult schedule of games the basketball teams sponsored by the Moose Lodge have been holding practices several times weekly and should from pre-season indications be ready for strong competition when the season opens late in November. Well known athletes are numbered among the team members and sports fans here are given promises of an unusually active season.

Arnold Meeker, former high school football captain and basketball player for four seasons, has been chosen to coach the two teams and will assume captainship of the boys team. Independent teams in the court game have never aroused much enthusiasm in Galion but with th line-up of stars presented a change in interest may be noted during the coming season.

Kruger, Schreck, Mains, Bosler, Heiser, Meeker, and Young are among the best known former high school stars who have already reported for practice and in the girls squad, Shumaker, Todhunter, Nichols, Wise, Amann, Wildenthaler and Krieter are showing up to advantage.

WILL IS FILED IN MARYSVILLE COURT

Marysville King's Daughters Receive Bequest from Margaret J. Kenton.

Marysville, Sept. 22—The will of Margaret J. Kenton, late of Marysville, has been probated here. The document was drawn Aug. 6, 1915 and was signed by Ms. Nettie Enix and Mary L. Winget. A nephew, Dr. John Anderson, of Chicago, receives $2,400, which amount has already been advanced to him as a loan. A number of other smaller bequests in money and household goods are made, among them being $50 to the Mary Baldwin Circle of the Marysville King's Daughters. C. O. Coder, of Marysville and Dr John Anderson, of Chicago, are named as executors, and the testatrix has also selected Martin Doellinger, and Harrison Enix, of Marysville and Harry L. Agner, of Milford Center, as appraisers of her estate.

Sues on Note

J. W. Jacoby, an attorney of Marion, has filed suit in the local common pleas court against Scott Van Etton and A. L. Disbennett, for $67.40, with seven percent interest from Sept. 7, 1927. The money is claimed due on a promissory note.

Marriage License

A marriage license was issued in the local probate court, Wednesday to Austin Henry, 26, Darby township, son of Mr. and Mrs. William Henry, and Miss Ethel Brown, 25, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Eddie Brown, of Darby township. Rev. G. D. Keister, pastor of the English Lutheran church, performed the ceremony.

RICHWOOD TEAM TO PLAY FRIDAY

DeGraff High Eleven To Serve as Season "Lid Lifter"

Richwood, Sept. 22—The outlook for this season in football is unusually good. There is some excellent material and it is believed that they will develop into a fine working machine.

New jerseys and pants are being purchased for the team. By securing Marysville, the old time rival of Richwood, for Nov. 18, the schedule is now complete.

The complete schedule is as follows: Sept. 23—DeGraff, here; Sept. 30—Woodstock, here; Oct. 7—LaRue, here; Oct. 14—Forest, here; Oct. 21—Mechanicsburg, there; Oct. 28—Plain City, here; Nov. 3—London, here; Nov. 11—LaRue, there; Nov. 18—Marysville, here; Nov. 24—Raymond, here.

As stated in the above schedule the DeGraff game will be the "lid lifter" of the season. On the same date last year Richwood trounced DeGraff 63-0 but DeGraff lost only two men from their lineup by graduation and a tight game is expected.

The probable lineup for the DeGraff game is as follows: re, Reece; rt, Webster; rg, Bell; c, Temple; lg, Williams; lt, Bumgarner; le, Hunt, Capt.; rh, B. Clevinger; lh, B. Cramer; fb, R. Bristley; qb, R. Cushman.

BUCYRUS GRIDDERS TO OPEN AT LIMA

Coach Winters Puts Squad Through Stiff Workouts During Week

Bucyrus, Sept. 22—The local high school team will open the season with a game with the Lima Central gridders. The high school team is rounding into nice shape under the able guidance of Coach Winters and his assistant, Keusch, who is the vocational instructor. Scrimmage Monday and Wednesday showed that the team is capable of putting up a stiff fight. Tuesday, the team indulged in light work, calithenics, theory, blocking, tackling and toting the ball.

The line this year is equal to any in recent years and the backfield material, including Monnet, Baker, Ward, Rem, Koch, Heinlen and Saffell is composed of very excellent men. The straws all point to a fine game at Lima Saturday with the local bunch putting up a strong fight.

VOTERS TO DECIDE HOSPITAL ISSUE

Petition Containing 250 Signatures Filed with Union County Commissioners

Marysville, Sept. 22—A petition has been filed with the Union County Commissioners asking for a vote at the November election on a five-year bond issue for $100,000 for the purpose of erecting and equipping a hospital. The hospital if it becomes a reality, will be known as the Union County Memorial hospital and will be built on a plat of ground in the American Legion Memorial park, donated for that purpose by the local Legion Post.

The petition contained the signatures of 250 voters of Union County. Solicitors of the petitions state that they met with very little trouble in obtaining the signatures and the proposal was meeting with approval over the entire county. According to statistics by County Auditor Eber Dillon, it will cost taxpayers of Union County about 50 cents for each $1,000 of taxable property and money for the next five years.

Nine-Inch Strip of Land Causes Bucyrus Man Trouble

BUCYRUS, Sept. 22—A nine-inch strip of land is the cause of much trouble to the residents on the north side of Gay-st. Councilman Ryan brought the matter up at the meeting of the city council Tuesday night and after lengthy discussion the council finally decided that the affair was not their business. The strip in dispute is nine inches wide and no one knows to whom it belongs.

On the decision of its ownership depends the boundary lines on the north side of the street. The trouble started when one property owner decided to build a driveway and called in City Engineer F. L. Neiderheiser and a member of the county engineer's staff to decide upon his property lines. Neiderheiser referred to the original city platting and gave a line, the county engineer gave another line nine inches from this line. Original stakes, set when the street was laid out are gone and the lines cannot be definitely established by a check in this manner. A check can be made from older and still permanent marks and lines but that will take considerable work and time. J. W. Miller, city solicitor, expressed his opinion that the council could not decide the dispute and that the matter must be settled by the property owners or a court decision would be necessary.

Councilman Vullmer recalled that a similar complaint exists on Charles-st.

SUSPEND SENTENCE IN NON-SUPPORT CASE

Sanford White Agrees To Pay Toward Support of Child

Upper Sandusky, Sept. 22—A sentence of from one to three years in the Ohio penitentiary was suspended by Judge Earl B. Carter upon the giving of $1,000 bond by the defendant Sanford White in the non-support case of the state against White.

White agreed to pay $3.50 per week hereafter until the child is 16 and an additional $150 for the support of the child within one year of this date. The case was tried yesterday afternoon in common pleas court.

Overrule Petition

The petition of Ernest A. Fuller for a new trial in the case of Chastina U. Jones and Elizabeth Uncapher against Fuller was overruled. Judgment was given the plaintiff in this case by a petit jury last week.

Dismiss Case

The case of the Hardin County Bank et al against Robert McBeth et al has been dismissed without prejudice.

At present Mr. and Mrs. Rhinehart are making their home at 129 South-st.

SEEK DISCONTINUANCE OF SHORT LINE TRAINS

Bucyrus, Sept. 22—Permission to discontinue two of the Pennsylvania-Short Line trains operating between Sandusky and Columbus, via Bucyrus, was asked of the Public Utilities Commission by the officials of the Pennsylvania Tuesday. The two trains to be removed are numbers 426 and 429. Number 426 leaves Sandusky at 8:10 and is due here at 10:16, the other, 429, leaves Columbus at 6:00 p. m. and is due here at 7:18. This is one of the several applications made by the officials of the Pennsylvania to the commission. Insufficient revenue is given as the chief reason for the proposed dropping of the two scheduled trains.

STILL IN JAIL

Bond Figure Lowered to $35,000 for Zillick and Hand

Bucyrus, Sept. 22—Both Wilbur Hand and Harry Zillick, of Toledo, are still in the county jail in lieu of bond to free them. Hand pleaded not guilty Tuesday to the grand jury indictment of being a participant in the $115,000 bank robbery of the Commercial Savings Bank at Galion in June. Zillick was indicted by the grand jury on the same charge but has not been arraigned. Both are trying to raise the necessary bond but have not been successful. The bond was originally $50,000 for both but on the plea of their attorneys that the sum was too high Judge Wright set the bond at $35,000. This bond must either be deposited by a reputable bond house or by individuals living in this county.

INTEREST CENTERS IN TRIAL OF HAND

Man Accused of Galion Robbery To Be Given Hearing Oct. 18

Galion, Sept. 22—Much local interest is centered in the coming trial of Wilbur Hand, alleged participant in the Commercial Savings Bank robbery of June, 28, which has been set by court officials for Oct. 18. Hand was arraigned before Judge Wright and entered a plea of not guilty. The indictment charged him with assisting in the hold up which netted the bandits $35,000.

George Bryce, Toledo, is attorney for Hand and represented him at the hearing. A request for lowering the bond from $50,000 to $25,000 was granted by Judge Wright after some deliberation but as yet the bond has not been furnished.

Harry Zillick, also accused of aiding in the robbery still is held at the county jail awaiting arraignment.

MISSIONARY SOCIETY HOLDS REGULAR MEETING

Carey, Sept. 22—The Jennie Larmonth Missionary Society of Christ Lutheran church met Tuesday night at the home of Mrs. Elva Criger. Mrs. W. R Allen was assisting hostess. Mrs. George Newhard and Mrs. James Haines were the leaders. Mrs. Haines conducted the devotionals. Mrs. Newhard was in charge of the lesson study. Miss Gertrude Yohe gave an excellent report of the Mission study school which she attended at Lakeside. One new member, Mrs. Forest Dame, was received into the club. After a social time the hostesses served refreshments.

Marion County Farmers Warned to Guard Against Hessian Fly

CARE URGED IN SOWING WHEAT

Bulletin Gives Instructions in Campaign To Curb Infestation

Farmers in the northern part of Marion County should not sow wheat before Sept. 26 and those in the southern part of the county before Sept. 27, if Hessian fly infestation is to be curbed.

This information is contained in a bulletin mailed out by the Ohio Agricultural Experiment Station, Wooster. A copy of the bulletin has been received by S. B. Stowe, Summit-st, former Marion County agricultural agent.

Facts on a survey made by the experiment station in 34 counties of the state are presented in an article appearing in the bulletin, written by J. S. Houser. Although Marion County was not one of the counties included in the survey the amount of infestation may be judged from figures on nearby communities.

Nearby Counties

According to the report of the survey the infestation in Delaware County was 24 per cent. In Crawford County, directly north of Marion the infestation was 23 per cent and in Hardin County it was 47 per cent. The heaviest infestation was reported in Hancock County, directly north of Hardin County, where the percentage was placed at 49. Southern counties had the least.

"It is a well established fact," Mr. Houser says in his article, "determined through years of observation, that Hessian fly infestation is periodical in nature. That is, a series of years in which the fly has been comparatively abundant will be followed by series in which the injury is correspondingly light.

"The reason for the fluctuating damage is easily understood. When the insect is relatively scarce, the parasites which are responsible for its destruction find difficulty in locating the insects in which to develop and as a result the fly outstrips these natural enemies and builds up its numbers by leaps and bounds.

Easy to Locate

"However as soon as the fly becomes abundant the parasites have less difficulty in locating it and as a result they too multiply rapidly—much more rapidly than the pests. Since several species of these parasites exist, they soon overcome the fly and eradicate it, but not entirely.

"It is clearly evident that an average infestation of 30 to 50 per cent in June or July may mean two entirely different things so far as probable injury to the next crop is concerned. If the fly is on the increase a 30 to 50 per cent infestation may mean excessive losses to the next crop unless proper precautions are taken.

"The results of this year's survey, compared to the report of the preceding year indicates that the fly is on the increase and holds a greater menace to the crop to be sowed this fall than it has for several years past, particularly in northern Ohio.

Little External Evidence

"Farmers may have difficulty in believing the accurateness of these figures indicating as they do a rather heavy infestation of fly in parts of Ohio in the crop just cut, because this year there was very little external evidence of the presence of the insect.

"In other words there was very little breaking down of the straw. The failure of the straw to break down is easily accounted for in the fact that the spring growing season was an exceptionally favorable one for wheat production and the plants stood up well even in the presence of a considerable amount of fly. It is reasonable to assume that a little more fertilizer was used on wheat last fall than was customary. With the menace of the fly this fall the liberal use of fertilizer is recommended.

"To sow wheat early in Ohio this fall particularly in the northern sections of the state, will be highly hazardous. Fortunately the fly free date falls at approximately the time for sowing wheat which has been found to bring the best yields. This is advanced as another argument against early planting.

"It is earnestly recommended that the suggested dates be adhered to."

WOOSTER, O., Sept. 22— The Hessian fly, brought over by the British-hired Hessians during the Revolutionary war, has proved a much greater pest than the defeated mercenaries, ever since. So say the government experts at the Ohio Agricultural Experimental station at Wooster.

They infest wheat, rye and barley, causing excessive losses to the farmers. Experiments at the station prove that the best way of avoiding the pest is to plant late in the fall, the earliest date being placed at September 22.

The eggs of the Hessian fly are deposited on the stalks, or just between the stalk and sheathing base of the leaf of the grain. The eggs are orange, reddish, elongated specks, barely visible to the naked eye. The young larva, when newly hatched, is reddish in color and only slightly larger than the egg. When the larva is full grown the body shrinks away from the outer skin, diminishes slightly in size, and becomes shining brown in color and of a tough, smooth texture. This is the puparium, or "flaxseed," in which state it is most easily detected.

The Hessian fly damage is periodical in nature. There will be a series of years in which damage by this pest is abundant and then a series when it will be comparatively light. It is found over most of North America, where wheat is grown, from Texas to the far north fields of Canada.

Proposal to Give President Power to Fix Immigration Limits Rejected by Legion

Plan Voted Down After Bitter Debate in Which Opponents Picture Danger of Establishing "Monarchial" Authority in Executive's Hands

Trocadero Palace, Paris, Sept. 22— A sharp conflict on the immigration question featured the closing business session of the American Legion convention today.

After a bitter debate, the legionnaires declined to approve a proposal to make the president of the United States an "immigration dictator," empowered to raise or lower the barriers of immigration at will.

The proposal was contained in a report presented by the Americanization committee of the Legion, urging congress to grant this power to the president.

Condemn Proposal

Delegates from Illinois and Pennsylvania condemned the proposal as an effort to grant the nation's chief executive a "monarchial and grave delegation of power."

After a verbal battle lasting half an hour, the Pennsylvania and Illinois delegates won their fight to have the resolution sent back to committee for revision.

A mixture of business and horse-play occupied the delegates on the closing day of the convention. With solemn ceremony, the Legionnaires elected Jay Ward, five years old, of Manicock, Pa., official mascot of the Paris pilgrimage.

Resolutions Passed

Thirty-nine resolutions dealing with various aspects of hospitalization and compensation for disabled veterans were passed by the delegates.

Awards in several of the Legion's contests were announced today. The Illinois delegation won the first prize for its male quartet, with Wisconsin second. The California delegates were awarded the Galbraith medal for having traversed the greatest number of miles to reach the convention site. Florida was second in this unique contest.

GRANTED DIVORCE

Petition of Harriet L. Davis Awarded By Court

Mt. Gilead, Sept. 22 — Harriet L. Davis was granted a divorce yesterday by Judge W. P. Vaughan. She was also given custody of a child and $10 per month for its support.

A motion filed by Prosecuting Attorney F. L. Meyers was overruled. It asked that the damage petitions of M. W. McKibbin, Ross St. Clair, Homer Hershner, H. A. Carter, and R. H. Crawford against the County Commissioners be made more definite. The plaintiffs asked damages allegedly sustained by them when the county appropriated sections of their land for road widening.

MOOSE BASKETBALL TEAMS PRACTICING

Galion Group's Season Will Open Late in November; Schedule Arranged

Galion, Sept. 22—In preparation for a difficult schedule of games the basketball teams sponsored by the Moose Lodge have been holding practices several times weekly and should from pre-season indications be ready for strong competition when the season opens late in November. Well known athletes are numbered among the team members and sports fans here are given promises of an unusually active season.

Arnold Meeker, former high school football captain and basketball player for four seasons, has been chosen to coach the two teams and will assume captainship of the boys team. Independent teams in the court game have never aroused much enthusiasm in Galion but with th line-up of stars presented a change in interest may be noted during the coming season.

Kruger, Schreck, Mains, Bosler, Heiser, Meeker, and Young are among the best known former high school stars who have already reported for practice and in the girls squad, Shumaker, Todhunter, Nichols, Wise, Amann, Wildenthaler and Krieter are showing up to advantage.

WILL IS FILED IN MARYSVILLE COURT

Marysville King's Daughters Receive Bequest from Margaret J. Kenton.

Marysville, Sept. 22—The will of Margaret J. Kenton, late of Marysville, has been probated here. The document was drawn Aug. 6, 1915 and was signed by Ms. Nettie Enix and Mary L. Winget. A nephew, Dr. John Anderson, of Chicago, receives $2,400, which amount has already been advanced to him as a loan. A number of other smaller bequests in money and household goods are made, among them being $50 to the Mary Baldwin Circle of the Marysville King's Daughters. C. O. Coder, of Marysville and Dr. John Anderson, of Chicago, are named as exechtors, and the testatrix has also selected Martin Doellinger, and Harrison Enix, of Marysville and Harry L. Agner, of Milford Center, as appraisers of her estate.

Sues on Note

J. W. Jacoby, an attorney of Marion, has filed suit in the local common pleas court against Scott Van Etton and A. L. Disbennett, for $67.46, with seven percent interest from Sept. 7, 1927. The money is claimed due on a promissory note.

Marriage License

A marriage license was issued in the local probate court, Wednesday to Austin Henry, 26, Darby township, son of Mr. and Mrs. William Henry, and Miss Ethel Brown, 25, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Eddie Brown, of Darby township. Rev. G. D. Keister, pastor of the English Lutheran church, performed the ceremony.

RICHWOOD TEAM TO PLAY FRIDAY

DeGraff High Eleven To Serve as Season "Lid Lifter"

Richwood, Sept. 22—The outlook for this season in football is unusually good. There is some excellent material and it is believed that they will develop into a fine working machine.

New jerseys and pants are being purchased for the team. By securing Marysville, the old time rival of Richwood, for Nov. 18, the schedule is now complete.

The complete schedule is as follows: Sept. 23—DeGraff, here; Sept. 30—Woodstock, here; Oct. 7—LaRue, here; Oct. 14—Forest, here; Oct. 21—Mechanicsburg, there; Oct. 28—Plain City, here; Nov. 3—London, here; Nov. 11—LaRue, there; Nov. 18—Marysville, here; Nov. 24—Raymond, here.

As stated in the above schedule the DeGraff game will be the "lid lifter" of the season. On the same date last year Richwood trounced DeGraff 63-0 but DeGraff lost only two men from their lineup by graduation and a tight game is expected.

The probable lineup for the DeGraff game is as follows: re, Reece; rt, Webster; rg, Bell; c, Temple; lg, Williams; lt, Bumgarner; le, Hunt, Capt.; rh, B. Clevinger; lh, B. Cramer; fb, R. Bristley; qb, R. Cushman.

BUCYRUS GRIDDERS TO OPEN AT LIMA

Coach Winters Puts Squad Through Stiff Workouts During Week

Bucyrus, Sept. 22—The local high school team will open the season with a game with the Lima Central gridders. The high school team is rounding into nice shape under the able guidance of Coach Winters and his assistant, Keusch, who is the vocational instructor. Scrimmage Monday and Wednesday showed that the team is capable of putting up a stiff fight. Tuesday, the team indulged in light work, calisthenics, theory, blocking, tackling and toting the ball.

The line this year is equal to any in recent years and the backfield material, including Monnet, Baker, Ward, Rem, Koch, Heinlen and Saffell is composed of very excellent men. The straws all point to a fine game at Lima Saturday with the local bunch putting up a strong fight.

VOTERS TO DECIDE HOSPITAL ISSUE

Petition Containing 250 Signatures Filed with Union County Commissioners

Marysville, Sept. 22—A petition has been filed with the Union County Commissioners asking for a vote at the November election on a five-year bond issue for $100,000 for the purpose of erecting and equipping a hospital. The hospital if it becomes a reality, will be known as the Union County Memorial hospital and will be built on a plot of ground in the American Legion Memorial park, donated for that purpose by the local Legion Post.

The petition contained the signatures of 250 voters of Union County. Solicitors of the petitions state that they met with very little trouble in obtaining the signatures and the proposal was meeting with approval over the entire county. According to statistics by County Auditor Eber Dillon, it will cost taxpayers of Union County about 50 cents for each $1,000 of taxable property and money for the next five years.

Nine-Inch Strip of Land Causes Bucyrus Man Trouble

BUCYRUS, Sept. 22—A nine-inch strip of land is the cause of much trouble to the residents on the north side of Gay-st. Councilman Ryan brought the matter up at the meeting of the city council Tuesday night and after lengthy discussion the council finally decided that the affair was not their business. The strip in dispute is nine inches wide and no one knows to whom it belongs.

On the decision of its ownership depends the boundary lines on the north side of the street. The trouble started when one property owner decided to build a driveway and called in City Engineer F. L. Neiderheiser and a member of the county engineer's staff to decide upon his property lines. Neiderheiser referred to the original city platting and gave a line, the county engineer gave another line nine inches from this line. Original stakes, set when the street was laid out are gone and the lines cannot be definitely established by a check in this manner. A check can be made from older and still permanent marks and lines but that will take considerable work and time. J. W. Miller, city soilicitor, expressed his opinion that the council could not decide the dispute and that the matter must be settled by the property owners or a court decision would be necessary.

Councilman Vollmer recalled that a similar complaint exists on Charles-st.

SUSPEND SENTENCE IN NON-SUPPORT CASE

Sanford White Agrees To Pay Toward Support of Child

Upper Sandusky, Sept. 22—A sentence of from one to three years in the Ohio penitentiary was suspended by Judge Earl B. Carter upon the giving of $1,000 bond by the defendant Sanford White in the non-support case of the state against White.

White agreed to pay $3.50 per week hereafter until the child is 16 and an additional $150 for the support of the child within one year of this date. The case was tried yesterday afternoon in common pleas court.

Overrule Petition

The petition of Ernest A. Fuller for a new trial in the case of Chastina U. Jones and Elixabeth Unespher against Fuller was overruled. Judgment was given the plaintiff in this case by a petit jury last week.

Dismiss Case

The case of the Hardin County Bank et al against Robert McBeth et al has been dismissed without prejudice.

SEEK DISCONTINUANCE OF SHORT LINE TRAINS

Bucyrus, Sept. 22—Permission to discontinue two of the Pennsylvania-Short Line trains operating between Sandusky and Columbus, via Bucyrus, was asked of the Public Utilities Commission by the officials of the Pennsylvania Tuesday. The two trains to be removed are numbers 426 and 429. Number 426 leaves Sandusky at 8:10 and is due here at 10:10, the other, 429, leaves Columbus at 6:00 p. m. and is due here at 7:48. This is one of the several applications made by the officials of the Pennsylvania to the commission. Insufficient revenue is given as the chief reason for the proposed dropping of the two scheduled trains.

STILL IN JAIL

Bond Figure Lowered to $35,000 for Zillick and Hand

Bucyrus, Sept. 22—Both Wilbur Hand and Harry Zillick, of Toledo, are still in the county jail in lieu of bond to free them. Hand pleaded not guilty Tuesday to the grand jury indictment of being a participant in the $115,000 bank robbery of the Commercial Savings Bank at Galion in June. Zillick was indicted by the grand jury on the same charge but has not been arraigned. Both are trying to raise the necessary bond but have not been successful. The bond was originally $50,000 for both but on the plea of their attorneys that the sum was too high Judge Wright set the bond at $25,000. This bond must either be deposited by a reputable bond house or by individuals living in this county.

INTEREST CENTERS IN TRIAL OF HAND

Man Accused of Galion Robbery To Be Given Hearing Oct. 18

Galion, Sept. 22 Much local interest is centered in the coming trial of Wilbur Hand, alleged participant in the Commercial Savings Bank robbery of June, 28, which has been set by court officials for Oct. 18. Hand was arraigned before Judge Wright and entered a plea of not guilty. The indictment charged him with assisting in the hold up which netted the bandits $75,000.

George Bryce, Toledo, is attorney for Hand and represented him at the hearing. A request for lowering the bond from $50,000 to $25,000 was granted by Judge Wright after some deliberation but as yet the bond has not been furnished.

Harry Zillick, also accused of aiding in the robbery still is held at the county jail awaiting arraignment.

Pittsburgh and Giants Open Crucial Series of Season

Pirates Take Brooklyn Over to Regain Three and One-Half Game Advantage

New York Is Tied for Second Place with Cards Who Meet Boston Braves; Ruth Needs Only Five More To Break 1921 Record

BY LES CONKLIN

New York, Sept. 22—The most crucial series of the year begins in Pittsburgh today when the embattled Giants, tied with the Cardinals for second place, tackle the Pirates in a double-header. The Giants trail the leaders by 3 1-2 games this morning as a result of Pittsburgh's victory over Brooklyn yesterday, and must take at least three of the four games to remain within striking distance of the Buccaneers in the last short rush down the stretch.

McGraw Back

John McGraw, fiery leader of the New York outfit, has rejoined the club following an illness and will be in there telling the Pirates where to get off and the Giants when to get on. He probably will shoot Fitzsimmons and Benton at the Bucs in today's twin bill.

Meanwhile the Cardinals, who play two games today with the somewhat demoralized Boston Brates, have an excellent chance of forging to the front while the Giants and Pirates are slitting each others' throats.

Bucs Must Win Eight

In order to clinch the pennant the Pirates must win eight of their remaining eleven games, provided St. Louis and New York both win ten straight. Even if the Giants and Cards win eight games, Pittsburgh can grab the bunting by taking only six out of eleven.

Miljus Beats Robins

John Miljus, the perennial rookie who was with Brooklyn in 1920, was a life-saver for Pittsburgh yesterday. He bent the Robins 4 to 2, his mates staking him to four runs in the fourth inning. The Waner brothers put on their famous hitting act and shoved across the winning tallies.

Another for Babe

Other National League clubs were idle. In the junior circuit, Babe Ruth saved the Yanks from a shutout by delivering his 55th homer. He needs only five more to break his 1921 record. Gibson pitched for Detroit and won 6 to 1. The Yanks made no less than six errors and the fans razzed them without restraint.

Tyrus Goes Hunting

After helping the Athletics lose to Cleveland, 6 to 5, Ty Cobb decided he had enough baseball for the season and departed on a hunting trip, undecided as to whether he will play next year. Connie Mack offered to renew Ty's salary at the same impressive figures.

The senators swamped the Browns, 10 to 0, and are still tied with Detroit for third place. Ganzel, a Washington rookie with a famous baseball name and a wicked wallop, clouted a triple, two doubles and a single.

A pinch double by Red Rollins in the ninth staked the Red Sox to a 3 to 2 victory over the White Sox.

HOLLIS SLAGLE STARTS BOWLING ACTIVITIES

New Manager Gets Alleys in Shape for Opening Monday; Leagues To Organize

Hollis Slagle, new Y. M. C. A. bowling manager ,started this morning to get the alleys in shape for the opening of the season Monday, Sept. 26. After a week of practice bowling during which time the leagues for the winter will be formed, the season will open with the first league bowling Monday, Oct. 3.

Within the next week Slagle expects to have seen the captains of the teams which composed the leagues last year. So far as possible last year's schedule will be followed.

It is likely that there will be the same number of leagues this year as last. The women's league made up of teams from the Business Women's Club will probably bowl again on Wednesday evening. Last year's Industrial league composed of 12 teams of bonifide employees of business houses and industries, and the American league of eight teams playing under the names of business houses, will likely be the largest leagues this year. A four team league from the Erie railroad and another four team league from The Star also bowled last year.

A doctor may speak only one language, and ye be familiar with many tongues.

Tunney and Dempsey Rest as They Await Clang of Gong at 10 O'clock Tonight

BY JAMES KILGALLEN

CHICAGO, Sept. 22—"I think I'm good enough to win by a knockout in seven rounds."

Restlessly pacing his suite in the Morrison hotel like a caged panther, Jack Dempsey made this assertion to close friends today as he waited zero hour tonight when he will have his golden chance to win back the heavyweight championship of the world which he lost in a downpour of rain in Philadelphia just a year ago.

And, at the same time, out at his camp at Lake Villa, Gene Tunney, unruffled and serenely confident, had this to say:

"I expect to win without any great difficulty, this time by a knockout."

Both Retire

The principal actors in the dramatic ring spectacle that is to be staged under blazing arc lights in the vast expanses of the egg-shaped Soldiers' Field before the greatest crowd that ever witnessed a sporting event, had secluded themselves from the public. They were waiting, as calmly as they could, for the last few trying hours to pass before the bell summons them to the center of a twenty-foot ring pitched close to the breezy shore of the lake front.

Heavily guarded by police, Dempsey came into Chicago last night from his training headquarters at Lincoln Field and went into retirement at the Morrison. He was accompanied by his attractive, dark-eyed wife, Estelle Taylor, screen star, who, after kissing her husband "good-bye" and wishing him "loads of luck" retired to her apartment in the fashionable Edgewater Beach hotel.

Jack Plays Cards

Dempsey was up early this morning, ate a breakfast of bacon and eggs, did light calisthenics in his rooms, and then played cards with friends. Now and then he left the game and walked restlessly around his suite. He was in good humor, however, and joked with his companions. His father, Hiram Dempsey, who came here from Utah to see his son try to regain his lost laurels, visited him and they had a long chat.

Tunney, fresh from a ten hour sleep, arose this morning in the best of spirits. He jollied with Lou Fink, his trainer, and Sergeant Bill Smith, his bodyguard, who slept in the same room with the champion.

Tunney Cheerful

"It won't be long now," Tunney commented. "Cheer up, you fellows, you seem to be taking it harder than I am."

The champion's main concern seemed to be about the weather. "I hope it will be good and cold tonight," he said. "The colder it is the faster we will have to move in the ring. The faster we move the quicker it will be over."

It was clear and cold with a biting autumnal wind sweeping across Fox lake.

Tunney planned to leave for Chicago shortly before noon and is expected to put up at the Sherman hotel where his baggage now awaits him. The camp was deserted except for detectives and a few of Tunney's close friends. Tunney ate a hearty breakfast at 8 o'clock and then retired to his rooms to await his departure to Chicago. Two police cars, armed with detectives, arrived shortly after dawn heralding the departure of the champion.

Receive Congratulations

Both Dempsey and Tunney have received hundreds of telegrams wishing them the best of luck. Scores of telegrams came to Dempsey from the motion picture colony of Hollywood. Many of the telegrams to Tunney were from business leaders, society persons and statesmen. Theodore Roosevelt and Joseph Tumulty were among those who sent messages to the champion.

Final Preparations

Tunney and Dempsey were to weigh in at 3 o'clock this afternoon before representatives of the Illinois boxing commission. Dempsey planned to take a short nap this afternoon. Tunney will eat his final meal carefully selected by a dietician, at 4:30 p. m., and then will retire to sleep.

In discussing the fight, Dempsey said this morning:

"I haven't the slightest fear that I cannot whip Tunney this time. He looks the same to me as the rest of them did from the time I knocked out Willard. I expect to knock him out and it shouldn't go farther than seven rounds. I feel like my old self again and that's the most assuring factor of it all to me. I've got everything I ever had I feel, and that's what makes me sure I am going to win."

Dempsey Elated

Dempsey made no secret of his elation over winning his point not to have to tape his hands in the ring. The bandages will be put on in the dressing rooms, with representatives of the Illinois boxing commission and of both fighters witnessing the procedure. Dempsey complained that he gets cold if forced to tape his hands after he has entered the ring.

COACH BOHYER PREPS RED AND BLACK FOR OPENER

Upper Sandusky's Strength Is Unknown Quantity; Will Meet Harding-Hi Saturday

Defense Is Practice Program For Rest of Week; Team Gets First Practice at Fairgrounds Tonight; Lineup Is Not Definite

BY TOM BUCHANAN

[illegible] concerning the strength [illegible] of the Upper Sandusky team which plays Harding [illegible] is mighty scarce around Black camp. The Wyandot school, like the local squad, [illegible] action so far this season. [illegible]er is looking for most [illegible] the way of surprises Saturday, [illegible] will not be without a few [illegible]ers. In past seasons Upper [illegible] has been in the habit of [illegible] pretty creditable teams and [illegible] reason, at this time, to believe [illegible] will be broken this season.

Work At Fair Grounds

[illegible] Red and Black squad, [illegible] first workout on the field [illegible] games will be played. [illegible] Bohyer took his proteges to the [illegible] to get them acquainted [illegible] of the land before the con[illegible]

test Saturday. The field has recently been improved somewhat; the playing field has been shifted and new goal posts erected.

The practice menu starting Wednesday evening was served largely in defense style. Harding's heavy line is having the finishing touches put on it. There will also be some work on the practice field for the backfield in passing and kicking. The work in this department has not developed to a point where it is entirely satisfactory. There must be some improvement before Harding bumps up against other contenders for N. C. O. honors.

For several nights past Coach Bohyer has been giving his team the plays he expects to use this season. But just what he will dish out to Upper Sandusky he isn't shouting from the housetops. His heavy line, however, may make it advantageous to use it in opening the opposing line for off tackle runs. The backfield, while light, isn't dead on its feet and can be expected to take advantage of any holes that pop up.

Lineup Not Definite

The lineup Coach Bohyer expects to send in to open the fracas with the visitors Saturday isn't definitely decided. It is likely however that the starters will be Houghton and Lewis at the ends, Smith and Reiff, at the tackles, Zimmer and Kramer at the guards; and Evans at the pivot position. As for backs Coach Bohyer will likely start McAninch and Garrett at the halves, Stafford at fullback, nd Lowe at quarter. Morrison will also likely see service at the signal callers post.

This tentative lineup is liable to be changed before the whistle blows however. A number of boys have been coming fast in the last few workouts and before the opener may make a strong bid for berths. One of the most promising of these is Castner, an inexperienced sophomore halfback who has been showing exceptional form in practice. A number of other reserves will likely get a chance Saturday. Among them are Marshall and Williams, guards; Keller and Walker, centers; Ansley and Penecock, tackles; and Wright and Perry, ends.

Compton Assisting

Allan Compton, basketball coach of Harding high, is assisting Coach Bohyer in whipping the team into shape. Reiff who developed a charley horse several days ago is recovering.

The game Saturday is called for 2:30 at the fair grounds. Francis Bacon, of Mt. Gilead, a former Marion man will referee the game. The head linesman will be Elmer Smith, a local athlete and former college player. The umpire whose name is not known as yet will come from Ohio Wesleyan.

TAXI DRIVER JOINS CROWD

[illegible] many people have recommended [illegible] for stomach, kidney and liver [illegible] that J. A. Porter, well known taxi [illegible] of Chattanooga, Tenn., has [illegible] great crowd of boosters and [illegible] his name to the long list of [illegible].

Mr. Porter says: "I had an acid [illegible] and my kidneys were also out [illegible]. I had a pain in my back that [illegible] like a knife. Pepsen helped me right [illegible] the very start."

Those who desire to learn more of [illegible] may do so at Bradley's Drug [illegible] and other well stocked drug stores [illegible]where.—Adv.

LACKS VETERANS

Boles of Wooster Must Develop New Material to Fill Holes

Wooster, Sept. 22—With Bob Stoll, veteran tackle out of the game with a broken bone in his right hand, Wilbur Bishop, sophomore, who was being groomed for a tackle berth called to his home in Pittsburgh by the illness of his mother, the tackle situation at Wooster has become a big problem for Coach L. C. Boles to solve. Part of this will be solved if Ted Humphreys, lineman last season, returns to school.

The end situation looks better after a week of practice. Pierson, of Wilmington and Metzler and Jolliff of Wooster and Criuckshank of Urbana will be Wooster's wingmen.

Boles must develop a center to replace Hank Critchfield, Kallio, of Ashtabula, Meier, of Wooster, Seidenmantel, of Ellwood City, Pa. look the best.

STATE SQUAD FROM ALL PARTS OF STATE

Columbus Leads with 10, Cleveland Sends Eight and Toledo Four

Columbus, Sept. 22—A survey of the 35 candidates fighting for positions on the 1927 Ohio State grid squad shows that they represent practically every corner of the state. Columbus leads with a total of 10 men, while Cleveland is a close second with eight. Toledo sends four candidates, while Chillicothe and Dayton have three each. Cincinnati and Akron are the only other municipalities with more than one man out, each having a pair.

From Four States

In addition to these there are four states other than Ohio that can claim representation on the Scarlet and Gray eleven this year. H. E. Chambers, a quarterback from Utah, M. F. Popp of Fort Wayne, Indiana, Lincoln Gorr, Elmer Marek and Leo Uridil of Iowa and Robin Bell, Francis Griswold and Andrew Brozio of Pennsylvania are all in this class.

An analysis of the positions that these men are endeavoring to fill shows close competition for every place on the line and in the backfield. At present, there are ten guard candidates and an equal number out for "half." Eight stalwarts are qualified as ends, 11 as tackles and four as fullbacks. Five men each are striving to gain the quarterback and center positions left open by the graduation of Algy Clark and Alex Klein.

GODFREY PLEASED

Lutheran Coach Says He Has Best Team in Years

Springfield, Sept. 22—For the first time since he began coaching football team at the Lutheran college here in 1916, Coach E. R. Godfrey admits that the grid squad has quality and quantity. He says he has a line and ball toters, big and little men, dreadnaughts and whippets. Godfrey says his 1927 squad is the best that he ever had at Wittenberg.

Play State Oct. 1

Wittenberg opens for a practice session against Findlay here Sept. 24, and few of the first stringers will get into the battle for fear of injury that will bring distress in preparation for Ohio State at Columbus Oct. 1. The rest of the schedule includes Cincinnati, Ashland, Ohio, Miami, Bethany, Ohio Wesleyan, Toledo, and Akron.

Godfrey, assisted by J. Traumwein, will have as fullbacks, Bradley, Maus, Schroder, Apple. Quarters, Ulrich, Grant, Al Murty, Ritter, Price; Halves, McFarren, Captain Maurer "Red" Maurer, Brickle, Nichols, Merkle, ends, McFadden, Bicking, Van Hyning, Ted Marty, Churchman; centers, Robert Miller and Beaty; guards, Beemon, Zimmy, Roy Miller, Libby, Christler, Petit; tackles, Gladden, Brant, Middletown, Harve.

A very rich man often builds a palatial home to stay away from two-thirds of his time.

HERE ARE PRELIMS TO BIG TANGLE

Chicago, Sept. 22—Preliminaries to the Gene Tunney-Jack Dempsey card tonight are:

George Manley, Denver vs. Yale Okun, New York.

Chuck Wiggins, Indianapolis vs. Jimmy Byrne, Louisville.

Big Boy Peterson, New Orleans vs. Johnny Grasso, New York.

Armand Emmanuel, San Francisco vs. George La Rocco, New York.

The bouts will be six rounds each. All fighters are heavyweights. The first preliminary will start at 8:15 p. m.

HERE'S MORE ABOUT
FIGHTERS REST
STARTS ON PAGE 12

Tunney, in his final interview, said he believed Dempsey would be 25 per cent easier to beat this time.

"I mean to stop him," said the champion. "I feel great. The cold spell has put the proper zip in me. I have planned my style of battle to counter any mode of attack Dempsey employs. I am even more certain I will win than I was when I first engaged Dempsey at Philadelphia last year."

Million Profit

The fight will net Tunney a profit of $1,000,000, the largest amount ever paid any pugilist for a single battle. Dempsey has been given a flat guarantee of $450,000. If Promoter Tex Rickard's estimate of attendance of 150,000 proves correct, the fight will draw 20,000 mor spectators than any previous fistic encounter. The gate receipts are expected to total more than $2,500,000.

EXECUTOR'S SALE OF REAL ESTATE

In pursuance of an order of the Probate Court of Marion County, Ohio, we will offer at public auction at the west door of the court house in Marion, Ohio, on the 8th day of October, 1927, at 2 o'clock P. M., the following described real estate, belonging to the estate of William P. Murphy, deceased, in compliance with the last will and testament of said William P. Murphy, deceased, to-wit:

Tract No. 2, being part of Lot No. 2209 in Thompson's First Addition to the City of Marion, Ohio, and being at the southwest corner of Center and Davids Streets in said city, and appraised at $14,000.00.

Tract No. 3, being Lot No. 2213 in Thompson's First Addition to the City of Marion, Ohio, and being on Davids Street in said city, and appraised at $1,334.00.

Tract No. 4, being part of Lot No. 2214 in Thompson's First Addition to the City of Marion, Ohio, and being on Davids Street in said city, and appraised at $667.00.

The same to be sold in Case No. 6947 of the Probate Court of Marion County, Ohio.

This real estate will be offered both separately, by tracts as above set forth, and then all three tracts as a whole, and will go to the bidder, or bidders, whose bid, or bids, will bring the greater amount to the estate.

Terms of sale: Cash in hand on the day of sale.

F. X. COTTER
Administrator with the Will Annexed of Estate of William P. Murphy, Deceased.

King's Daughters Ready To Launch Annual Sale of Tags for Benefit Work

Funds in Saturday's Campaign To Be Used for City's Free Dispensary, Bucyrus Home and Charity; Workers Are Selected

The city's free dispensary, Maplecrest, the King's Daughters Home, Bucyrus, and general charity. These three charitable institutions constitute a plea for a generous response from the public when members of the City Union of King's Daughters hold their annual tag day Saturday, Sept. 24, in the business section of the city. Twenty-five per cent of the proceeds will be placed in a fund to assist in the maintenance of the free dispensary in the City Hospital and the remainder will be used for general charity in the city and for the support of orphaned girls at Maplecrest, King's Daughters Home.

The tag day is in charge of Mrs. Walter E. Miley, chairman, Mrs. Walter A. Dorsey, assistant chairman, and members of the various circles as a committee. The tags will be on sale all day from 7 o'clock Saturday morning until 7 o'clock Saturday night with members of the organization working in shifts of two hours each, and it is hoped that this year's proceeds will total a banner mark.

"KONJOLA GAVE ME NEW HEALTH," SAYS A RICHWOOD, O., MAN

Free of Miserable Neuritis Pain and Suffering, He States; Praises New Medicine

Residents in every section of Marion and all nearby towns have quickly found out about the merits of this celebrated new medicine, Konjola, which The Konjola Man is introducing and explaining in person to large crowds each day at the Stump Pharmacy, 121 South Main St., Marion. Hundreds are strongly indorsing this remarkable compound, and among the latest is Mr. C. S. Kirby, widely known Richwood, Ohio citizen, address Box 4.

MR. C. S. KIRBY

"Konjola gave me new health," said Mr. Kirby, "and ended all the miserable neuritis pains which I had been suffering for a long time.

"My neck and shoulders and arms were so achy that I couldn't move my body one way or the other without suffering extreme pains. It was impossible to sleep at nights, because these miseries would hang on for hours. I had to give up my farm work, because my whole system was rundown and I couldn't get this neuritis out of my body. Sometimes a strong liniment or salve would help me temporarily, but my flesh would burn, and I was never able to find anything to really drive away the cause of my suffering until I found Konjola.

"I had never heard of this medicine until I saw the indorsements of some Marion people who were benefited. I got my first bottle, and it certainly reached my case. I seemed to feel this neuritis leaving my arms and shoulders every time I took a dose, and I continued until now I do n't have a single ache or pain. Besides, I have more strength and better health in every way. I sleep good and feel a hundred per cent better in the mornings.

"I always believe in giving credit to the best of everything, and Konjola is the first medicine I ever gave my indorsement, because I know what it has done for me after so many other things failed."

The Konjola Man is at the Stump and Sams Pharmacy, 121 South Main Street, Marion, where he is daily meeting the local public and introducing and explaining the merits of this remedy. Konjola is now being sold by all of the good druggists in every nearby town of this whole section—Adv.

Friday's Settlements on New G. M. Stocks to Involve Considerable Sum

MARKETS AT A GLANCE

Railroad stocks, steady; industrial stocks, irregular; domestic bonds, steady; foreign bonds, steady; call money, 4 per cent; grain, irregular; copper, steady; oil, irregular; cotton, irregular; rubber, firm; sugar, steady; pig iron, reactionary; foreign exchange, steady.

New York, Sept. 22 — Industrial stocks were unable to make progress today against the wave of liquidation and profit taking which flooded the market.

The selling waves depressed issues four or more in most of the active stocks, but buying demand from the lower price ranges, professional working for lower prices and no easy task to "put prices down." As in former sessions of the professional selling was centered on General Motors, Mack and the high-priced specialties, the pools in the later stocks, in relief of their favorites and sustained in the first period promptly recovered.

In quarters it was believed the appointment of Roy A. Young as head of Federal Reserve Governors, and a possible end to the credit period, though the probability of any revolutionary changes in the discount rate, decline of prices of important products to the lowest level was discouraging, as also the failure of the seasonal revival in trade to put in its appearance.

Rates called in a considerable amount of funds from the call loan market, the market was well supplied and the rate for call funds ruled at 4 per cent. Fridays' settlements for new stock of General Motors will involve a considerable sum, and many of the brokerage houses have been actively preparing for that huge transaction.

RUBBER

New York, Sept. 22—Trading in the crude market for crude rubber futures was quiet with prices steady. Sellers asked 36 cents for spot and Sept-Oct. ribbed smoked sheets; 36¼ cents for Nov-Dec, 36⅝ cents for Jan-March.

LOANS UP TO $500

Banks are able to finance only a minority of the American people because the vast majority of folks don't have the necessary security to obtain a bank loan.

The City Loan was organized to fill the needs of this majority. Its plan of loaning money is designed for any man who honestly intends to do the right thing, and he therefor deserves the kind of financial assistance The City Loan is able to offer.

You can borrow money here confidentially, without the endorsement of others and come back for more any time your needs require it. That is a nut-shell to what makes The City Loan so popular.

Main Street Tongues Wag as Jersey Doctor's Murder Remains Mystery

VINELAND, N. J., Sept. 22—April - November marriages, where a man marries a woman 30 years his junior, may make pleasant romance for both.

But when the husband is murdered, unpleasant mystery enshrouds the widow.

How to dissipate this is the problem confronting a young woman here—Mrs. Margaret Lilliendahl, whose husband, Dr. A. William Lilliendahl, a popular physician, was murdered at her side.

They were out riding in an automobile when, according to her story, they were attacked by two colored men, who shot the husband in a holdup.

Wife Found Hysterical

The wife, dishevelled and hysterical, was found wandering in the road.

But the authorities, who recall other murder cases, have other views. They have questioned and requestioned a neighbor—a younger man—whose activities had irked the physician to the point of ordering him to stay away from the Lilliendahl home.

The investigators found a letter which they believe shows that the neighbor had been in financial straits and had solicited Mrs. Lilliendahl to try and arrange a loan with her husband.

In this state, where the famous Hall-Mills case whetted popular maudlin appetites but never appeased them, such bits are enough to set tongues wagging at a deadly clip.

"Main Street" Suspicious

Main-st still is Main-st, and fertile ground for suspicion.

Since Debussy's Lane was the scene of the Hall-Mills murder, it has become a popular fetish here to associate any back road with the worst. More fuel was added in the Lilliendahl mystery by its setting on a by-path called Middle-rd.

The authorities found a handkerchief tied to a tree. Just a coincidence, possibly—but to the Sherlocks of the country it was evidence of a signal.

The widow, after being kept a virtual prisoner, was released in $25,000 bail as a material witness.

ENTERTAIN GUESTS ON WEDDING ANNIVERSARY

Waldo, Sept. 22—A splendid chicken dinner was served Sunday at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Wilt, east of Waldo, in honor of Mr. and Mrs. Wilt's eighth wedding anniversary, also Mrs. Henry Wilt's birthday anniversary. Those present were: Mr. and Mrs. O. F. Miley, Mr. and Mrs. George Wilt, Mr. and Mrs. Henry Wilt and children, Erma and Esther, Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Wilt, Mr. and Mrs. David Gompf and children, Ivah Mae and Edward, Mr. and Mrs. Albert Miley and children, Helen and Mildred, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Wilt and children, Robert, Katherine, Harold and Dorothy.

CIRCLES MEET

Miss Ethel Stiffler Hostess To Queen Esther Group

Prospect, Sept. 22 — The Queen Esther Circle of the Methodist Church, held their regular meeting Tuesday night, at the home of Miss Ethel Stiffler on S. Main-st with 21 present.

The meeting was in charge of Luella Northrup, president and opened with a greeting and a Queen Esther yell. Devotions were in charge of Lucille Cheney, who read the scripture lesson; prayers were offered by Luella Northrup, Miss Mary Ann Porter and Mrs. W. M. Keller. A poem, "Be Strong" was read by the Circle. Roll call was responded to by giving the name of a Missionary and telling where located. The Circle sang the Rally song. Ethel Stiffler and Luella Northrup gave fine reports of the week spent in Camp Wesleyan at Lakeside. Mrs. W. M. Keller read a leaflet, "What Time Have You?" Pauline Kyle and Coral Arthur gave an interesting playlet entitled "Your Way and Theirs."

Mrs. W. M. Keller had charge of the business hour.

The program committee appointed for six months includes Ruth Harmon, Florence Lowery and each hostess.

Miss Stiffler assisted by her mother and sisters, served delicious refreshments, after which the meeting adjourned to meet with Mrs. Huston Ackley in October.

COUNTY ROAD WORK DELAYED

Rains Hold Up Improvements; Six Highways Still Under Construction

Owing to the rain in the last few months, work on the various roads of the county now under construction, has been delayed to a great extent, according to Cecil R. Leavens, Marion County surveyor.

With the completion of one road yesterday there remain six more roadways which are now undergoing improvement. Efforts are being made, according to Surveyor Leavens to complete the work on the roads before winter arrives.

Most of the roads being improved have been mud pikes and rain makes the passage of trucks on them impossible Leavens says. When bad weather comes, if the roads are not completed, work will be discontinued until next spring.

Road Finished

The Lynn-Hipsher-rd situated in Scott Township was finished yesterday by the Brady & O'Connell Co., contractors, of this city. The section of the road which has been improved extends nearly three miles.

There has been some doubt given as to whether the Marion-Crawford County line-rd, will be completed this year owing to the late start on the proposed improvement. Charles Schwab, Bucyrus, is the contractor in charge. Engineering work on the road is being done by the office of the Marion County Surveyor.

Other roads of the county, reconstruction of which is now in progress include the Winnemack-pk, located in Bowling Green Township, south of LaRue; Denzer-rd, Waldo and Richland Townships; Gearheiser-rd, Waldo and Richland Townships and Mt. Olive-rd, Agosta and Green Camp Townships. Completion of the work on the Dry Lane-rd, situated in Montgomery Township is expected by the end of next week.

FINED $10. COSTS

Raymond Lepper of this city paid a fine of $10 and costs in municipal court this morning when he pleaded guilty to a charge of intoxication before Judge William R. Martin. Lepper was arrested on Orchard-st at 10 o'clock last night.

BOY IMPROVED

The condition of Peter James Zwolle, 7, son of Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Zwolle, Fountain-st, injured last Friday as he alighted from a moving automobile, is reported to be much improved today. The child sustained a fractured skull.

LEGAL NOTICE

Notice is hereby given that sealed proposals will be received at the office of the County Commissioners of Marion county, Ohio, in Marion, Ohio, until Thursday, October 20, 1927, at one (1) o'clock P. M., Eastern or local time, for furnishing all the material and performing all the labor required for construction of the following described improvement, in accordance with the plans and specifications therefor on file in the office of said Board of Commissioners: Installation of a NEW BOILER AND STEAM PIPING at Marion County Children's Home, Marion County, Ohio, in accordance with drawings and specifications therefor, prepared by Ronan & Ingleson, Architects and Engineers, Columbus, Ohio, and J. H. Moore, Associate, Marion, Ohio, which drawings, specifications and an estimate of cost are now on file in the office of Commissioners of said Marion County for the inspection of all interested persons; and copies thereof together with forms of proposal and information thereon may be obtained from the office of the Architects, Ronan & Ingleson, 1614 North High Street, Columbus, Ohio, and J. H. Moore, Associate, Marion, Ohio.

Estimated cost of the improvement—$3,385.00.

TWO MEN REFUSE TO LEAVE CITY, JAILED

Must Spend 60 Days Behind Bars for Failure To Heed Judge's Order

Having failed to observe an order of the court to leave the city on four different occasions in the last four weeks, William Kelley of Columbus and Elmer Lindsay, of Sandusky, will now be enforced guests of the city for the next 60 days at least.

In placing a fine of $50 and costs on each yesterday morning when they pleaded guilty to a charge of intoxication, Municipal Judge Martin said: "Since you men appear reluctant to leave the city, I will arrange that you will continue you stay for at least 60 days." Both were taken to the county jail when they were unable to to pay their fine.
